

Hope Star

WEATHER
Arkansas—Fair, colder, freezing temperature and probable frost, below freezing in north portion Thursday night; Friday fair, continued cold.

VOLUME 38—NUMBER 140

(AP)—Means Associated Press
(NEA)—Means Newspaper Enterprise

Area

HOPE, ARKANSAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1937

Star of Hope 1899; Press, 1927.
Consolidated January 18, 1929.

PRICE 5c COPY

NEVADA CRASH VICTIM DIES

Plans Completed for Visiting Day Experiment Farm

Hundreds of Visitors Expected to Flock to Station Friday

ALL-DAY PROGRAM

Large Variety of Experiments to Be Viewed on Tour of Farm

Several hundred visitors from 25 South Arkansas counties are expected to attend the eighth annual Spring Visiting Day program at the University of Arkansas Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment farm Friday.

G. W. Ware, assistant director in charge, said Thursday plans were complete for handling one of the largest crowds in the history of the station.

The Program
On a two-hour tour through the station farm, beginning at 10 a. m., visitors will have an opportunity to see a large variety of spring crops and farm practices, including pastures, orchards and cane fields, and vegetable crops.

Brief demonstrations will be held as follows:
Hot Bed and Plant Propagation—V. M. Watts, Department of Horticulture, College of Agriculture.
Permanent Pastures—L. A. Dhanau, assistant extension agronomist.
Soil Conservation Demonstration—Craig Roseborough, project manager, Soil Conservation Service of the Hope office.

Cover Crops and Soil Management—Walter E. Mountcastle and J. L. Hiler, Hempstead and Nevada county farm agents.
Orchard Management—J. R. Coop, head of the Department of Horticulture, College of Agriculture.
Grape Production—R. S. Woodward, technical assistant, fruit and truck branch experiment station.

Poultry Housing and Management—S. A. Moore, extension poultry specialist.
Speaking in Afternoon
The feature of the short program in the afternoon will be an address by J. E. Stanford, editor of Southern Agriculture and nationally known farm lecturer. Dean Dan T. Gray, dean and director, and Miss Connie J. Bonnel, state home demonstration agent, both of the College of Agriculture, also will speak.

A demonstration on landscaping will be given by the women's section by J. R. Cooper, College of Agriculture. L. A. Dhanau, assistant extension agronomist, will conduct the men's section to the pasture experiments and L. C. Baber of the extension service will act as group chairman.

The public is invited.

Strikers Vacate Chrysler Plants

Evacuate Eight Plants But Prepare to Set Up Picket Lines

DETROIT, Mich.—(AP)—More than 5,000 striking automobile workers marched in a swirling snow Thursday from eight Chrysler corporation plants which they have held since March 8, but prepared to establish picket lines until their strike for exclusive bargaining.

(Continued on page four)

A THOUGHT

Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.—Romans 5-1.

District Junior Music Club Day to Be Held Here Saturday

150 Contestants From 12 Counties to Compete for Honors—Contests to Be Held at Various Churches and at Hope City Hall

The Camden District Junior Music Club Day will be held in Hope Saturday, starting at 9 a. m. Music contestants from 12 south Arkansas counties will compete for honors. Contestants will number approximately 150.

General headquarters for this event will be at First Baptist church. Club members are asked to register there immediately after arrival.

The meeting will open promptly at 9 o'clock. Mrs. J. C. Carlton of Hope will preside at the opening session. Visitors will be welcomed by Miss Lynn Bayless, president of the Madrigal music club. The various contests will be held as follows:
At the Baptist church—Piano, solo and ensemble, bell lyre. Pages will be Enola Alexander and Mary Nell Carter. Ushers—Neil Williams and Daisy Dorothy Heard.

At the Presbyterian church—Violin and voice. Hostesses will be Mrs. George Ware, Mrs. J. O. Milam, Pages—Lynn Bayless and Margaret Simms. Ushers—Mary Ann Lile, Martha Houston, Margie Diddy.

At the Christian church—Readings, hymn playing, memory. Hostesses will be Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Synthe. Pages—Patsy Tolleson and Nancy Roberts. Ushers—Joy Ramsey, Alma Crane, Marjorie Butler.

At the city hall—Band ensembles and band solo instruments. Hostesses will be Mrs. Houston, Mrs. Synthe. Pages—Patsy Tolleson and Nancy Roberts. Ushers—Joy Ramsey, Alma Crane, Marjorie Butler.

State and district officers expected here Saturday include Mrs. Trebling.

Sunrise Service to Begin at 6 a. m.
The Union Sunrise Easter service will be held next Sunday morning at 6 o'clock at the High School stadium in planned for the entire community of Hope. The general committee, representing nearly all the churches of Hope, has worked out a program that will be of religious value to youth and age alike.

No offering or collection will be taken at the service. This service in no way will be commercialized. No advertising will appear on the official programs, which carry the order of worship. The expenses incurred in arranging this service are being kept to the minimum, and will be met by private subscription.

The service will be one of worship in song, scripture reading, prayer and a brief Easter message. The programs will carry the words of the hymns to be used.

Young people will have a significant part in this service. Young people from the various churches will be ushers. The girl scouts will be on duty at the stadium to assist people in being seated. The boy scouts will assist in parking the automobiles.

Extensive announcements of this service are being made throughout the high school and grammar schools. It is hoped entire families will attend this Easter service.

Bailey Withholds His Decision on Road Bill

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Gov. Bailey reserved his decision Thursday on a bill designed to aid road improvement districts whose bondholders refused to surrender their five per cent bonds for those bearing three per cent after the passage of the 1934 refunding act. He declared that he believed the bill, by Senators Fagan and Dillon of Little Rock, violated the spirit of the refunding act.

First Carload of Radishes Shipped Late Wednesday

Henry Watkins & Son of Hope Ships First Car to Northern Markets

PRICE MUCH HIGHER

Peak Movement Not Expected Until April 5 to 10, Buyers Say.

The first carload of radishes shipped from Arkansas this year to northern markets left the Emmet tracks late Wednesday afternoon.

The car was shipped by Henry Watkins & Son of Hope.

The Watkins firm reported the price to the grower was $1 per bushel, which is double the opening market price of last season.

Three or possibly four more carloads are expected to be shipped the latter part of this week by the Watkins firm.

Price, Quality Better
The outlook for the radish season in Hempstead county is above the average, buyers said. Due to favorable weather the crop is a little early and the quality is better. The opening price is double that of last year.

Monte Seed Store reported shipment of several bushels by express, but the first carload will leave the latter part of the week.

Peak Movement in April
The peak movement of the radish crop is not expected to be reached until between April 5 and 10. The main shipping points in this district are Hope, Blewins and Emmet.

Present indications are favorable for a continued good price to the grower and shipper. Buyers appealed to growers for the best quality in an effort to hold the price as high as possible. They also asked that 100 bunches be packed to the crate.

Crop at DeAnn Damaged
The first pulling of radishes in the immediate DeAnn vicinity north of Hope was severely damaged by hail Tuesday night. Crops in other sections are believed safe.

Hopkins Sees New Day 'For the Poor'

National Relief Director in Visit to Dyess Colony

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Traveling toward the Dyess colony, the federal government's experimental rehabilitation project in eastern Arkansas, National Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins visioned Thursday a "new day for the poor."

"There's lots to be done yet," he asserted. "We've just got started. Something is going to be done to the millions who live in poverty."

"The cry that they are poor because they are shiftless is non-sense," he declared.

New London School Superintendent Tells Probers of Unauthorized Gas Connection

Methodist Choir to Give Program

Special Easter Music at Methodist Church Sunday Night

The choir of the First Methodist Church, under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Routon, organist and director, will present a special program of Easter music Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The program has been especially arranged for this service to include music that will have a wide appeal. A varied selection has been made of the best-liked and more tuneful Easter music. It will be a real service of worship in uplifting, enjoyable and inspiring music. The general public is cordially invited to attend.

The program of worship is as follows:
Prelude, "Evensong" (Johnstone)—Mrs. Routon.
Processional Hymn 531—The Choir.
Invocation—Rev. Fred R. Harrison.
Choral Sentence—The Choir.
Offertory, "Twilight" (Routon)—Mrs. Routon.

Trio, "O Holy Hour" (Nevin)—Misses Evelyn Murphy and Harriet Story and Mrs. John P. Cox.
Scripture reading.
Anthem, "There Is a Green Hill" (Gounod)—Mrs. Fred R. Harrison, soloist.

Men's chorus, "I Know That I Shall Live"—William Dean, Soloist.
Alto solo, "He Was Despised"—Miss Joy Neal.
Hymnal 136—The Choir.
Solo, "Angels, Roll the Rock Away" (Scott)—Mrs. Tully Henry.
Scripture.

"Resurrection Scene from 'King of Glory'—Misses Mary Louise Keith, Harriet Story and Joy O'Neal, Messrs. Franklin Horton and Elmer Brown.
Scripture.
Anthem, "O Death Where Is Thy Sting" (Wilson)—Clifford Franks, soloist.

Solo, "Calvary"—Miss Evelyn Murphy.
Scripture.
Women's voices, "God So Loved the World"—The Choir.

(Continued on Page Four)

TOP—Supt. W. C. Shaw of New London school, where the lives of 455 students and teachers were snuffed out last week in a gas explosion that shattered the school, tells the military board of inquiry the connection of the school gas line to the nearby main of an oil company was neither unauthorized nor was permission granted—the company just didn't object when the connection was made. It was an accumulation of the highly explosive "wet" gas that exploded, the board decided. The others in the picture are members of the board and a stenographer. A few minutes later, Shaw collapsed and was carried from the room.

BOTTOM—This connection of the New London school gas line to the nearby main of an oil company was the one which raised such a storm at the military board of inquiry held to determine the cause of the blast which destroyed the school and killed 455 students and teachers. The "wet" gas this line carried into the school leaked in some manner, collected in the cellar of the school and was the cause of the terrific explosion. This connection was neither unauthorized nor was permission granted—the company just didn't object.

Pre-Easter Dance at Barlow on Thursday

A pre-Easter dance will be held Thursday night at Hotel Barlow, instead of Friday night as erroneously stated yesterday in this newspaper.

The Henderson Collegians of Arkadelphia, featuring Miss Frances Snyder will play. The dance begins promptly at 9:30 o'clock.

Hope Youths Placed on College Honor Roll

Cadet Gordon H. Bayless and Cadet Kenzie McKee, of Hope enrolled in the college department of the Oklahoma Military Academy, are reported on the Dean's honor roll for the first six weeks of the second semester, a dispatch from the college said Thursday.

Nettie Cross, 18, Laneburg Student, Dies in Hospital

Never Regained Consciousness From Injuries of Bus Wreck

20 KILLED IN ILLINOIS

Only Three Members of Skating Troupe Survive Mishap

Nettie Cross, 18-year-old Laneburg High School student and one of 20 persons injured last week in a triple collision between two school buses and a truck, died in Corsa-Donnell hospital at Prescott at 9:45 o'clock Wednesday night.

Physicians told The Star over telephone Thursday that the Cross girl never regained consciousness. She suffered a skull fracture at the base of the brain and other injuries.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Cross who reside on Prescott Route Six. Relatives were at her bedside when the end came.

The hospital at Prescott was not informed as to the funeral and burial arrangements.

Bride-Elect Dies in School Blast

Naomi Bunting and Buddy Hill of Hope Were to Have Been Married

Miss Naomi Bunting of Overton, Texas, post-graduate student and bride-elect of Aldrich (Buddy) Hill of Hope, was killed in the New London, Texas, school explosion of last week, it was learned here Thursday.

Mr. Hill and Miss Bunting were to have been married in June. Her body was found in the wreckage five hours after the explosion which took a toll of 455 lives.

Mr. Hill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hill of West Fourth street, and is a brother of Ralph Hill, halfback of the Hope High School football team.

Mr. Hill formerly was employed at Ritchie Greer company, but for the past four months has been working in the oil fields of Texas.

Survivors Resume Work
NEW LONDON, Texas.—(P)—Students and teachers who survived the terrific explosion which killed 455 of their schoolmates here last week will resume classwork near the scene Monday, the school board decided Wednesday night.

The officials decided to resume classes in the grammar and other available school buildings and to rebuild the wrecked London consolidated school as quickly as possible.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS.—(P)—New Orleans cotton for May opened at 14.03 and closed at 13.83-83.
Spot cotton closed steady 7 points down, middling 14.23.

TRAILER ADVENTURE

CHAPTER I

Flat on her stomach, Martha Brittain opened the newspaper to the help-wanted advertisements and began running a magenta nail slowly down the first column. Betty Haynes, as blond as Martha was dark, and as attractive, regarded her cynically from the comfort of the day-bed.

"You're certainly an optimist if you think we're going to pop right out and get a job when we don't know a soul in San Diego," she told Martha. "Besides, you'll catch cold lying on the floor. All we'd need to make our trip complete would be you in bed with influenza."

"This is the best way in the world to read a newspaper," Martha said imperturbably. "I found it out at the age of seven when I started 'I can't see anything very funny about a help-wanted column.'"

Martha leaned over on one elbow to look at her companion. "Want to weaken and wire home that we spent too much money on our vacation?"

"I do not!" Betty sat straighter and her wide blue eyes snapped with determination. "We talked about a trip to California for so long that they practically shipped us off to stop hearing about it. Imagine what they'd say if they found out we were stranded! And I'd never hear the last of it from the family."

"Neither would I," said Martha, returning her attention to the newspaper. "So the only thing to do is find a job and work at it long enough for the fare back home."

"Listen to this," Martha went on. "Wanted—Two attractive, dependable young women to take Airspeed Trailer and small coupe up the coast for advertising purposes. Must stop in trailer camps and towns along the way to allow inspection of the Airspeed Trailer and explain its advantages. Apply in person to Arnold Sloss, 451 Atlas Building."

Betty swung around and set both feet on the floor. "Mart! What a break that would be! It would give us a chance to see the rest of California, and the Northwest at well." She stopped uncertainly. "Do you suppose there really could be a job like that?"

"Get your hat," said Martha. "We're going to find out."

Arnold Sloss' office had no anteroom, and when the two girls reached the fourth floor of the Atlas Building they found a line of more than a dozen women lined up before the door of No. 451.

"We're a couple of tardy birds," whispered Betty. "and we'll never get the worm."

"Keep your chin up," Martha told her. "If we can only get in there I've a hunch we'll rate. The ones we've seen go in have been 'singles.' And he wants two girls. We can tell him that we've known each other for years and know we can get along. That ought to be important to him."

"I only hope," Betty said prayerfully, "that we do get inside. That dizzy-looking platinum number in front of the door now is the type that could sell a male ice cream in Alaska."

But if the platinum blond had impressed Mr. Sloss he wasn't, apparently, to let her know

Continued on Page Five

Hope Star

O Justice, Deliver Thy Herald From False Report!

Published every week-day afternoon by Star Publishing Co., Inc., 212-214 South Walnut street, Hope, Arkansas.

C. E. PALMER, President
ALEX. R. WASHBURN, Editor and Publisher
Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Hope, Arkansas Under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Definition: "The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, through widely circulated advertisements, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Col. R. S. McCormick.

Subscription Rate (Always Payable in Advance): By city carrier, per week 15c; per month $3.50; one year $35.00. By mail, in Hempstead, Nevada, Howard, Miller and Lafayette counties, $3.50 per year; elsewhere $5.00.

Member of The Associated Press: The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

Charges on Tributes, Etc.: Charges will be made for all tributes, cards of thanks, resolutions, or memorials, concerning the departed. Commercial newspapers held to this policy in the news columns to protect their readers from a deluge of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the safe-keeping or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

Local Governments Can Use a Lot of Reform

It would be a very good thing if the present arguments over proposed changes in the Supreme Court would lead people to meditate on other branches of the American system of government that could do with a little reform.

It probably won't work out that way, because people are getting so emotional about the Supreme Court that everything else is forgotten. One group seems to feel that our chief problems will be solved if the President's plan is adopted; the other, that they will be solved if it is defeated. No one has any time to look at humbler institutions.

But in the long run it is probably far more important that we do something effective about our local governments than that we come to a final decision on the place the high court ought to occupy.

X X X

THE word "government" doesn't simply mean Washington. It means the 48 state capitals, the innumerable city halls of the country, the thousands of country courthouses, the infinite number of offices in which local boards, commissions, and supervisors do their work. If we want to clear the decks for a new era, we might well forget about Washington for a time and go to work on these less exalted places.

For the obvious fact is that very few of these lesser divisions of government function without the most appalling waste, inefficiency, and confusion. And it is because of that fact that we are forever piling new jobs on the federal government at Washington, asking it to do the things that states and cities should be doing for themselves. The matter of unemployment relief is a single example.

Nebraska recently gave us a helpful tip about state governments. By doing away with the traditional two-house legislature, Nebraska automatically eliminated much waste and expense and made the processes of state government far more directly responsive to the will of the people than they ever are apt to be under the old system.

In the same way, such cities as Cincinnati and Milwaukee have shown that it is possible to have city governments that work honestly, efficiently, and openly. Any city can follow suit, whenever its citizens grow tired of being fooled by the bewhiskered devices of old-line politics.

But where are we going to get an example of county reorganization? It would be hard to imagine a more antiquated or expensive unit of government than the county. There are thousands of such units where there should be hundreds, or scores; each one eats up the taxpayer's money with unfeigned appetite, and most of them are the breeding grounds for petty politics of the most sordid type.

X X X

IF WE could bring these state, city, and county branches of government up to date, rid them of lost motion, graft, and the runaway expenses that those two things breed, we would find the federal government immeasurably benefited. And the democratic process as a whole would flow along much more smoothly.

Henpecked Herrs

THE henpecked husband is a figure as old in human annals as the institution of marriage itself; but it has remained for Herr Hitler's government in Germany, with its customary ingenuity, to present an entirely new slant on him.

The Supreme Administrative Court of Prussia has just ruled that a man who lets himself be henpecked by his wife is not fit to hold office in the Prussian state. A state official who had been notoriously dominated by his good frau had been, under this edict deprived of his job—sent home, presumably, to make what explanation he can to his dominant helpmate.

New this ruling has its points. If a man can't rule his own home, how can he rule a state? The answer seems obvious... until you reflect that such a superlative statesman as Abraham Lincoln was one of the most henpecked mortals in all 19th century America.

The Family Doctor

To Avoid Parrot Fever, Keep Away From Sick Birds.

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

(No. 178)
In Switzerland, in 1879, some parrots brought from Germany infected two brothers with the disease now called "parrot fever," or psittacosis. Primarily a bird disease, psittacosis may be contracted by human beings from parrots or parakeets, or even from canaries.

Usually a person gets the disease from a sick bird, although it is possible even healthy birds may transmit it. On the other hand, it seems to be exceedingly rare for one human being to catch this disease from another. Most of the deaths involve people over 30 years of age because the disease, in younger people, is mild.

The exact manner in which psittacosis is transmitted is not known, although there is evidence that people may get the disease after being bitten by a bird or, more frequently, after close contact such as occurs in mouth-to-mouth feeding of birds.

It takes from six to 15 days after contact with the source of infection of the disease to develop in a human being. Usually there is a chilly sensation with fever and headache, and, shortly thereafter, a cough, indicating that the lungs are involved. There may also be loss of appetite, coating of the tongue, and other symptoms usually associated with infections. Women are affected by this disease more frequently than men because the former are more often concerned with the care of birds.

Among the first cases noted in the United States were three that occurred in Boston in 1904. Since that time there have been epidemics in New York and California. The United States now prohibits importation of South American parrots and California has regulations controlling importation and exportation of love birds and parrots.

There is just one way to avoid psittacosis, and that is to keep away from birds which may possibly have been infected. The condition usually is not suspected because of its unusual character and persons who have it may be treated as if they were infected with pneumonia, influenza, or typhoid fever.

Several cases usually occur at one time in any community, however, and one case of parrot fever in a community leads to suspicion of others.

In some instances the fluid taken from the blood of persons who have recovered from the disease seems to be especially useful in treating the serious symptoms.

In birds the condition is often fatal.

The Supreme Court Enjoys a Short Recess

HOLLYWOOD

By Paul Harrison

Hollywood Hails New Convert, Famed Composer Oscar Straus!

HOLLYWOOD.—Oscar Straus has come to talktown to do a job of tune-writing, and a great fuss is being made over the famed composer.

This is perhaps a greater tribute to the cause of good-music-in-the-movies than it is to Herr Straus himself, because he has worked in Hollywood twice before—in the days when music was merely something that you had to have in sound pictures, although nobody paid much attention to it.

Herr Straus himself was famous long before there were movies of any sort. He is 67 years old now, a large man, though stooped from decades of hunching over his writing.

His greatest international success, "The Waltz Dream," was composed in 1907. The operetta by which America best knows him was "The Chocolate Soldier," produced in 1903.

Naturally, he is proud of the apparent immortality of those two successes, but privately believes that a lot of his other stuff has been just as good. He has no idea how many complete scores and single melodies he has written.

Right now "Land Without Music," with Richard Tauber and a Strauss score, is running in London. And Herr Straus is going to miss the opening in Paris of his "Three Waltzes," an operetta in which Yvonne Printemps has the lead. He likes "Three Waltzes" as well as anything he has ever done. The old maestro doesn't seem to be losing his grip.

He is in Hollywood now on a contract with Producer Sol Lesser to write the background score and featured songs for the next picture of young Mr. Bobby Breen. Most likely it will be titled "Make a Wish."

It is unusual for a distinguished composer to write all the music for a film, but Straus says it's perfectly logical. "Without from one mind comes all the music, the mood is lost," is the way he says it.

Wants to Stay
Before signing the contract in Europe, he saw the first Bobby Breen picture, "Rainbow on the River." But he never met the young singing prodigy until the other day, at his formal Hollywood reception.

Also present were Rudolph Friml, Cole Porter, George Gershwin, Irving Berlin, Jerome Kern, Sigismund Romberg, and lots of musical enthusiasts who wished to pay tribute to an important new Hollywood convert. For Straus wants to remain here; he says "This is the place for composers to work who write for the public to enjoy."

Naturally he knows everybody in the musical world from Paderewski to Stokowski, but he seems proudest of his friendship with Gershwin.

He spent an entire night at Gershwin's apartment in New York, each playing for the other and trying to explain some tricks of their respective trades. I asked whether anything came out of it. Straus said, "Only this—that we learned he could write better the foxtrot and I could write better the waltz."

He's Versatile
Although a Viennese and a Strauss, the composer is not related to Johann or Richard Strauss. He doesn't write all waltzes, either. Sometimes the Spanish music, sometimes the French type. But never the American music. "They would not have brought me here to write something which better the Americans can do," said the maestro.

He doesn't believe he ever heard killing from 50 to 85 per cent of infected birds. When a parrot gets the disease, it loses its appetite, has diarrhea, and dies in a few days. Then germs can be found in practically all of its organs.

Charles Edward Thompson.
Second grade: Joyce Calhoun, Arlene Gilbert, Virginia Martindale, Josephine Powell, Betty Joe Jones, Emma Jean Hardaway, Dorothy O'Roke, Billie Joe Morton, Eugene Murphy, and Dale Woods.
First grade: Beville Osburn, Frank Carnes, Lena Neal, Betty Jean Mayo, Beatrice Woods, Martha Sue Messer, Maxine Clark, and Pauline Clark.

Guernsey

The following twenty students of the Guernsey High School department made the honor roll during the sixth month:

Twelfth grade: Fay Griffin and Norma Pittman.

Eleventh grade: Verna Lou Edwards.

Tenth grade: Fay Boyd and Freida Boyd.

Ninth grade: Loeta Thomas.

Eighth grade: Ralph Francis Norma Jean Allen, Marie Aylett, Iva Nell Caudle, Louise Cornelius, and Rachel McLaughlin.

Seventh grade: Lee Calhoun, Elburn Delaney, Lottie Faye Edwards, Charlene Martindale, Sibyl Simms, and Victorine Patrick.

In the grammar department the following forty-one pupils made "B" or better for the sixth month:

Sixth grade: Clarence Calhoun, Jerrell Rosenbaum, Marvis Cornelius, Dale Arnold.

Fifth grade: Jean McIver, Claudell Rosenbaum, J. D. Whitley, Valla Dean Hoover, and Francis Houston.

Fourth grade: A. L. Caudle, Lawrence Sparks, Harold Whitley, Aubra Lee Payton, Marie Clanton, Elizabeth Ellis, Katherine Lauterback, and Stella Mae Mouldin.

Third grade: Buster Robertson, La Verne Gilbert, Magdalene Neal, Dorothy Tyler, Clara Fern Osborn, and

Plant a Garden
Seeds—Plants
Fertilizers
MONT'S SEED STORE

FOR SALE
First year pure Roldo Rowden Cotton Seed at $1.25 bushel. Farm Relief at $2.00 bushel. All grown on black land. Good corn, prices on application. See T. S. McDAVITT & Co.

INSURE NOW!
With ROY ANDERSON and Company
Fire, Tornado, Accident Insurance.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Self-Assurance Comes By Doing

The way to make a child confident is to let him do things for himself. It not only makes him more self-reliant, but tends to decrease fear and inferiority.

Guide him and train him to do things a little better each time he tries, but it is wisdom indeed to do this without breaking down his assurance by criticism.

Little Harry has dressed himself and put his shoes on the wrong feet, perhaps. Well then, for illustration of the point in question, be a little excited and pleased over his performance at first and let him walk about for awhile, if he can, with them just as they are.

When his hunger for praise has drunk its fill and things settle back to normal, then take him in your lap and say, "Darling, I think maybe you'd be more comfortable if you took this shoe off and put it on the other foot, and change the other one, too. Feet get accustomed to certain shoes and they don't like strangers." Then, if you can, show him by marks which is which.

He won't mind. He will be very interested. And next time, or the next year, he'll start right.

He'll Strive to Please
To continue this little example, two things make it important to Harry to do better. The first is to please us, or to please his feet, and the second is that it feels better when done the right way.

This is typical of everything the child is struggling to learn. Things done better always have these two appeals, whether it be pulling on shoes, learning to play ball, or learning French verbs. It continues to be true long after the school stage is past. We need praise until we die, or we will settle back and forget to make effort.

But should a child always be praised? If he gets applause for only half a try will he ever be ambitious? Won't he learn to resent all correction? And be satisfied with half-hearted work?

Indeed yes. All these problems are serious ones because we have to seek a balance of power. We can ruin effort by criticism, but we can ruin endeavor with unearned approval.

Avoid unmerited Praise
The best that any parent, or teacher, can do is to carefully encourage a fearful or sensitive child as far as it is "constructing" his confidence. The surer child won't be so destroyed by discouragement. All children should have to earn praise, but we must learn to tell honest effort from lazy blundering, and look hard at that effort rather than the perfection of results.

The quick child, however, often gets more than a fair average of rebuke. Let him make just one mistake, and everyone is shocked. We are creating a standard for him that he can't quite live up to and this may start trouble. Nothing is so hard to live up to as a reputation for ability. The smart child can easily lose faith in himself.

Let all children try new things and do tasks just a little bit beyond them sometimes. By this they expand and learn. But praise and censorship must be fairly divided.

The proper way to lift a rabbit is to grasp him by the skin just behind the ears, not by the ears themselves.

New Hope

Quite a number attended singing here Sunday night.

Misses Sibilla Cox, Relda Mae Jolk, Florine Paris, and Glenn Hatfield, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Marton.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schooley were shopping in Hope Saturday.

Miss Jewel Dean Cox spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Ola Mac Harris. Canley Polk called on Francis Hatfield of DeAnn Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reece Arrington attended church here Sunday.

Willie Williams spent Sunday afternoon with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams of Washington.

John Hatfield called on Marie Arrington Saturday night.

Sunday school begins here each Sunday morning at 10:30. Singing at 7:30. Every one is urged to attend.

SELL
Coker's Cotton Seed
BUY
12c Loan Cotton
MAKE Auto Loans
TOM KINSER

WANTED!

SCRAP IRON, ANY QUANTITY, ALSO COPPER, BRASS AND OTHER METALS, OLD BATTERIES, RADIATORS, DRY BONES, CLEAN RAGS, PAPER, GRAIN SACKS AND HIDES.

HIGHEST PRICES PAID.

P. A. LEWIS MOTOR CO.

Iron Yard and Wagon Scale 301 E. Second, Hope, Ark.

EASTER

For that Easter dinner serve Cole's Pure Fruit flavor. It's full of Cherries and Colored Pineapple.

PINTS 17c QUARTS 34c

ICE CREAM

FRESH ICE CREAM IS BETTER

COLE'S

Double Dip Cream Stores

Boake Carter speaking:

"Luckies don't catch your throat—they're easy and smooth"

"The thing I prize most is my reputation for saying what I think. Here's what I sincerely think about smoking—it's one of the greatest pleasures in the world, but it can be utterly spoiled by throat irritation. My job's tough on the throat and I have to be careful to keep my voice clear. Long ago I found that Luckies are easy and smooth and don't catch your throat. That means everything in a job like mine. Next time you hear the usual 'Cheerio' at the end of my broadcast, you can picture me reaching for a Lucky an instant later."

Boake Carter

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Carter verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

THE FINEST TOBACCO—
"THE CREAM OF THE CROP"

A Light Smoke

"It's Toasted"—Your Throat Protection

AGAINST IRRITATION—AGAINST COUGH

Copyright 1937, The American Tobacco Company

Society

MRS. SID HENRY TELEPHONE 321

The Silver Trail
Last night,
Down a white walk misted with moonlight,
I saw a silver trail
Left by a snail.
So I, going my quiet way,
Would leave behind
A trail of silver
For those who follow after me to find.
Here I shall plant a tree in a barren place
And sometime, against the stars, an elfin will shake
Its silver lace.
I shall slip this gnarled brown root into the sod,
And some day, out of a rose's heart, will shine
The face of God.
I shall not trample the spider's web
That sparkles the grass;
I shall try never to hurt a living thing
As I pass;
And oh, I must remember to be kind
Today,
Going my silver way.

2 DAYS 2
NEW NOW

Highly hilarious hi-jinks when a madcap mishap declares a personal war on the soldiers of the sea!
JOIN THE MARINES
with PAUL KELLY, JUNE TRAVIS

Sunday... the Easter bunny brings Dick Powell, Alice Faye and all the gang in "On the Eve"
Saenger

Now... of course!
the enchanting star of "The Dark Angel" and "These Three" will weave her magic spell over you...with the most poignant and emotional role of her career...in one of the truly great stories of our time!

Merle
OBERON
Brian AHERNE
—in—
Beloved Enemy

Our Easter collection of Dresses will please the Miss or Woman who's taste demands style, fit and quality, at popular prices. We can give you all of these.

LADIES SPECIALTY SHOP

Film Aces At Dallas Fair Casino

Top names of the show world were signed this week for opening dates of the Casino at the Pan American Exposition in Dallas. Veloz and Yolanda are on contract for six weeks, opening on the Exposition's first day, June 12, at the highest personal appearance pay ever given a dance team. For four weeks the show headlined by these hall-of-fame artists will be directed and played by Ted Fio-Rito and his orchestra.
Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees follow Fio-Rito, opening July 10.

Gifts Showered on Oat-Fed "Quins"

Many Mechanical Toys
Make "Christmas" Run
Whole Year

The "famous five," the Dionne babies are constantly receiving gifts. This Christmas they received hundreds of gifts, as usual, but for them "Christmas" continues throughout the year.
They receive many mechanical toys which are usually stored away until the Quins are older.

One of the most unusual gifts which the world's sweethearts have received since their birth was a gift sent from Ireland, five bundles of real Irish shamrocks. An unusual "for life" gift was a pledge by an association to keep the Quintuplets provided with shoes as long as they live. A large doll house completely furnished was sent from Iowa and among other gifts there have been sets of dishes, a chest of silverware, a player piano, five pairs of snowshoes, bonnets, a Great Dane watch dog, bathrobes and numerous books. The books favored by the Quins' advisers are those with washable covers, which can be sterilized frequently.

These gifts are all individual tributes to the world's most famous babies, five living examples of what child hygiene can do when given a chance.
Food, of course, has been very important in the development of these youngsters whose total weight at birth was a little over ten pounds. Daily their cereal is oatmeal, which is rich in Vitamin B for keeping fit. Medical authorities and food editors recognize against those childhood dangers, nervousness, constipation and poor appetite due to lack of that vitamin in the diet. And, too, oatmeal with milk is rich in muscle-building protein, body-building minerals and energy-making carbohydrates.

And so, every day the famous Dionne Quins have Quaker Oats. And every year an armful world showers gifts on them in tribute to their good health.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usages by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers
below:

1. When a woman who is wearing street clothes in the evening goes to a hotel to dance, does she wear a hat?
2. Is it poor taste for a girl to put on make-up while she is on the dance floor?
3. Must the men who have attended a dinner before going to a dance ask the hostess and other girls present at the dinner for a dance?
4. Is it polite to insist that another person drink when he once refuses?
5. Is it courteous for a hostess to offer cigarettes to both men and women when she herself is not smoking?

What would you do if—
You are at a dance where there is a stag line and you are having a miserable time being a wall-flower?
(a) Leave?
(b) Try to grin and stick it out?
(c) Go to the dressing room and wait until the dance is over.

1. Yes, a woman always wears a hat with street clothes.
2. Yes, she should go to the dressing room.
3. Yes, they are even spoken of as "duty dances."
4. No, it is rude and inexcusable.
5. Yes.
Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(a). This is one time when it is wisest to admit defeat.
(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service Inc.)

Movie Stars Not Makeup Experts

And When They Interfere, Experts Quickly Rebuff Them

By ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD.—Some of the movie lilies persist in biting the hand that gilds them.

Considering how even the prettier actresses are dependent on make-up magic, it is remarkable how a few of them believe they know more about the art than its professional practitioners.

I was reminded of the fact by a story on Marlene Dietrich, told by a make-up artist who turned down the job of working with her on a recent picture.
It seems that Marlene's fingers begin to fidget, figuratively, as soon as she sees an eyebrow pencil. She likes not only to work on her own brows, producing the weird, slanting effects noted in her films, but on this occasion she tried to alter the brows of another star after make-up man had finished his work.

Squeel Effective
Marlene called on her friend Merle Oberon and decided the Oberon brows were not applied artistically enough.
And Dietrich picked up a pencil and was about to start in when the make-up artist gently but firmly intervened.
"Oh," said Marlene, "I was just going to improve them!"

"Miss Dietrich," he said, "I never try to do your acting for you—and I don't need any help on make-up." The squeel was effective, he reports.

Simone Simon may be more tractable now (she has blamed her early displays of temperamental on a desire to impress Hollywood) but her introduction to the 20th Century paint-and-powder department was scarcely happy.
New to the lot, she was sent to the head man, Ernie Westmore, for preliminary work. So within five minutes she was telling him how terrible she thought his method was. In the end she tore out, in a fury, vowing she would carry her case to Zanuck.
Telling Westmore about make-up is like telling Culbertson about bridge, so I wasn't surprised it Jean Harlow to see Ernie still in his old haunts.

Experiment Often
Beauties and no-so-pretty alike generally are sensible of their debts to make-up and want it done by experts. Most of them are continually experimenting toward improvements.
Jeanette MacDonald first was annoyed and later grateful to a critic who said unkind things to her mouth. She changed her lip make-up and it made a difference. Joan Crawford, who affected a thick, squarish lip for "Reinderson," wisely abandoned it. Jean Harlow's change from platinum blonde was her own idea, but effected only after tests.
The make-up men don't mind, in fact enjoy, having players raise questions and make suggestion for changes.
What makes them see red (and not mere rouge, either) is the player who wants to take over the whole job.
Lon Chaney was the only star who did that, and he was entitled to be the exception. Akim Tamiroff, the Russian actor of many "faces," used to operate a school of make-up in New York, but in Hollywood he leaves it mainly to the artists. Like Paul Muni,

Mountain Service at Spa on Sunday

Hot Springs Event One of Most Beautiful of Easter Season

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—One of the nation's most beautiful Easter observances will take place on the summit of Hot Springs mountain at sunrise Sunday, with white-robed singers and symbolical characters re-enacting Resurrection scenes in song and pageant.
The event is sponsored jointly each year by the National Park Service and the Chamber of Commerce, with Harvey H. Haley, local educator, who has written the pageant in charge of its staging.
The opening feature will show the Cross unadorned typifying the "cross of torture." The cross scene is later transformed into a symbol of life everlasting upon the appearance of girls representing the Spirit of Easter, followed closely by her joyous companions, the Spirit of Spring.
Easter will be clad in white and carry an Ascension Lily. Spring will wear an apple green costume and have an armful of snailax. They will be joined by flower-girls and others at the unadorned cross which they help decorate.
This spectacle is followed by ever a more colorful scene, as the Spirit of Easter calls to Hope, Faith, Joy, Har-piness, Sacrifice, Victory, Redemption, Eternal Life and Love to join them, bringing to all the world cheer and new life. The characters taking these parts will be attired in pastel shaded robes.
An Angel will appear beside the adorned cross, heralding the news in "He is not dead, He lives forever-more," with characters representing Mary Magdalene, Mary, the Mother of Jesus and Salome.
The prelude will be a muted band
number, Handel's "Largo."
The cross unadorned will tell its story.
Entering upon the scene in rapid succession after that will be the characters symbolizing new life and cheer each bearing a message.
As the chorus hums "The Old Rugged Cross," the Cross Triumphant speaks. The hum then changes to the singing of the musical gem. The finale will be Christensen's "Hosanna" by the chorus.
The entire program has been arranged as a compliment to Hot Springs visitors.

NEWS CHURCHES
ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH
Good Friday, March 26, 1937.
Liturgy and Address at 7:30 p. m.
Easter Day—Sunday March 28.
Holy Communion and Sermon 11 a. m.
Easter is the queen of feasts, the Day of Our Lord's Resurrection. It is the day when the gates of eternal life were opened to us. Because of Easter Christians have no fear of death.
For since by man came death, by man also came the resurrection of the dead.
No longer are we strangers to God but Children of God. Death is no longer an experience to be dreaded. We no longer to despair. And all of this because Jesus Christ the God-man has conquered our enemy death. "The Lord is Risen" Alleluia!

who works hard at his make-ups, Tamiroff suggests and lets the artist execute, the idea.

SPECIAL SALE
EASTER
DRESSES
$5.99
Ladies
SPECIALTY SHOP

A new variety of high quality frames at Popular Prices, on display at the
THE Shipley Studio
South Walnut Street—Next Door to Hope Star

EASTER FLOWERS
Complete your Easter ensemble with a Corcage of real flowers. Potted plants and cut flowers of all kinds.
FLORAL HILL GARDENS
Phone 369
See Display at Mary's Beauty Shop

FLAPPER FANNY

By Sylvia

"Off to the hunt, kid? Well, don't put all your eggs in one basket."
"And what's wrong with that if I keep all eye on the basket?"

Hawkins to Speak on Value of Soul

Interesting Program Is Planned at Hope Gospel
Tabernacle

The Rev. Floy L. Hawkins, evangelist in charge of the revival at the Hope Gospel Tabernacle, spoke Wednesday night on, "When Will Christ Return."
He said that all Christians everywhere share a definite responsibility to the unconverted; the real work of the church is primarily to point men to Christ.
"The Value of Soul," will be the evangelist's subject for Thursday night, and he promises one of the most interesting sermons of the week. Rev.
and Mrs. Hawkins are singing nightly

Your Easter Bonnet
Boast a hair dress as bright as the day, as smart as your frocks, as flattering as a Paris original. We'll do it for you and do it well, for every wave is specially planned for the woman who wears it.

SIBYL'S BEAUTY SHOP
Balcony Cox Drug
Phone 86

Chest Colds
Best treated without "dosing"
VICKS VAPORUB
STAINLESS now, if you prefer

DRUG SPECIALS
TENNIS RACKETS From 98c to $3.49
TENNIS BALLS From 50c to 29c
GOLF BALLS From 25c to 75c
G E LAMPS 15 watt and 60 watt 15c

Cashmere Bouquet Hand Lotion free with each 50c purchase of Colgate or Palmolive goods.
Palmolive Shave Cream, giant size
39c
Vaselin Hair Tonic. Giant size
69c
Cashmere Bouquet Soap. 3 for
25c
Colgate Perfumed Soaps. Asst. 2 for
11c

John P. Cox Drug Co.
Phone 84 We Give Eagle Stamps

Modern Freedom
... FOR MODERN WOMEN

B-ettes
MODERN SANITARY PROTECTION

Sanitary Protection without Pads Napkins or Belts

Manufactured by B-ettes Co.,
Inc., of Dubois, Pa.

John P. Cox Drug Co.
FOR today's woman... busy, modern, throwing off ancient shackles... B-ettes were created. Here is a method that ends the discomfort, the inconvenience and the embarrassment that heretofore has been an unavoidable part of this feminine problem. With B-ettes there is no consciousness of wearing a sanitary protection at all! They are completely invisible in use
... deodorant... and, though they safely and efficiently perform the purpose of ordinary napkins, B-ettes are so tiny that a day's supply can be carried unobtrusively in a handbag. Never before have women known such comfort... such convenience
... such daintiness... in a sanitary protection.

* Worn internally... approved by physicians

Rock Island Is to Oppose Buying of Branch by L. & A.

Line From Haskell, Ark., to Eunice, La., May Be Retained

TRUSTEES TO FIGHT Say Country Developing, and Ownership Will Be Maintained

LITTLE ROCK.—The management of the Rock Island Line is unalterably opposed to the proposed purchase of the Rock Island, Arkansas-Louisiana railroad, a Rock Island subsidiary, by the Louisiana & Arkansas line, E. M. Durham Jr., chief executive officer for the Rock Island, said here Wednesday.

Application for authority to make the purchase has been filed by the L. & A. with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Interviewed on his arrival here from Amarillo, Texas, Mr. Durham made clear the position of Rock Island officials in connection with the proposed purchase.

"We like being in Arkansas and Louisiana, and expect to continue to stay in these states," Mr. Durham said. "There has been a great deal of misapprehension about the Rock Island getting rid of the R. I. A. L. The Rock Island owns all the stock and 25 per cent of the bonds of the Rock Island, Arkansas and Louisiana, and none of our officers think it even remotely advisable to get rid of it."

"The country served by the line is developing and will continue to develop, and we naturally wish to take advantage of the development by continuing to serve the section."

"The Louisiana & Arkansas has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to take over the Rock Island, Arkansas & Louisiana. The trustees of the Rock Island have filed a petition with the I. C. C. in opposition to the acquisition."

"The plan of reorganization proposed for the Rock Island by debtors includes the R. I. A. & L. in the reorganized company, and the inclusion meets with the full approval of the present Rock Island management.

"If it were not there, we'd feel inclined to ask them to put it there." The Rock Island, Arkansas & Louisiana, serves a large territory in south Arkansas and north Louisiana, with a line about 350 miles long. This section is developing rapidly, is now immensely productive of both oil and lumber, as well as other products. The line extends from Haskell, Saline county, down to Eunice, south of Alexandria, La.

Nevada Crash

(Continued From Page One)

on into the second bus. The two buses were carrying children and parents home from a school play at Laneburg.

Coy Mims Recovering
The hospital at Nashville told The Star over telephone Thursday that Coy Mims, 20, of McCaskill, only survivor of a lumber truck wreck near Nashville 10 days ago, was on the road to recovery.

Clark Warren, 30, was killed instantly. Charlie Griffith, 31, sustained injuries that caused his death two days later. Marvin Straughn, also of McCaskill, died in the Nashville Sunday night.

Mims, fourth occupant of the truck, suffered a broken back and jaw and lacerations about the body. He was in a critical condition several days, but Thursday was reported to be out of danger.

The truck, loaded with lumber, plunged into a ditch when the steering gear broke, crushing all four men.

Bus Hits Bridge
SALEM, Ill.—(AP)—Three men remained alive Thursday as the survivors of the nation's worst motor bus accident which claimed the lives of 20 members of a professional roller skating troupe late Wednesday.

With two other persons, they were hurled through open windows by explosions following a crash of a privately-owned vehicle at a bridge abutment near here.

At the Salem community hospital, two of the survivors, Mrs. Emily Thomas of Chicago, wife of the driver, and Ed Mullen, of Portland, Ore., announced died Thursday.

The bus, loaded with a professional roller-skating troupe, on the way from St. Louis to Cincinnati, Ohio, was going down a slight grade when its right front tire blew out about 50 feet from the bridge on United States highway No. 50, two miles west of here.

The heavy machine careened crazily, dug into the soft shoulder of the highway and rammed into the bridge abutment with terrific force. Hurling on its side, the bus burst into flames when the gasoline tank smashed.

"The survivors said the bus appeared to explode and then there was fire all over and all were caught in it," reported R. H. L. Logan of the Salem community hospital, where the injured were taken.

"I can still hear my pals' screams of terror," Don Flanery of Kansas City, a professional roller-skater, told the Chicago American over long-distance telephone. "They were trapped in a regular mass of fire. The boys as well as the girls were hysterical and all fought like mad to get out."

Italian Troops

(Continued From Page One)

the insurgents in the Guadalajara sector the last few weeks.

Madrid Is Shelled
MADRID, Spain.—(AP)—Insurgent bombers rained explosives on Madrid for five hours Thursday, halting city attacks only when the artillery batteries took up the battle and began to pour shells into the beleaguered capital.

The Spanish government's militiamen scoured the sky with searchlights. Defense troops directed a stream of anti-aircraft shells and rifle bullets at the night raiders.

Observers watching from the rooftops were not able to compute the damage to the capital immediately.

British-France Pact
LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Great Britain and France agreed Thursday that they must prevent further landing of foreign volunteers, especially Italians, in warring Spain.

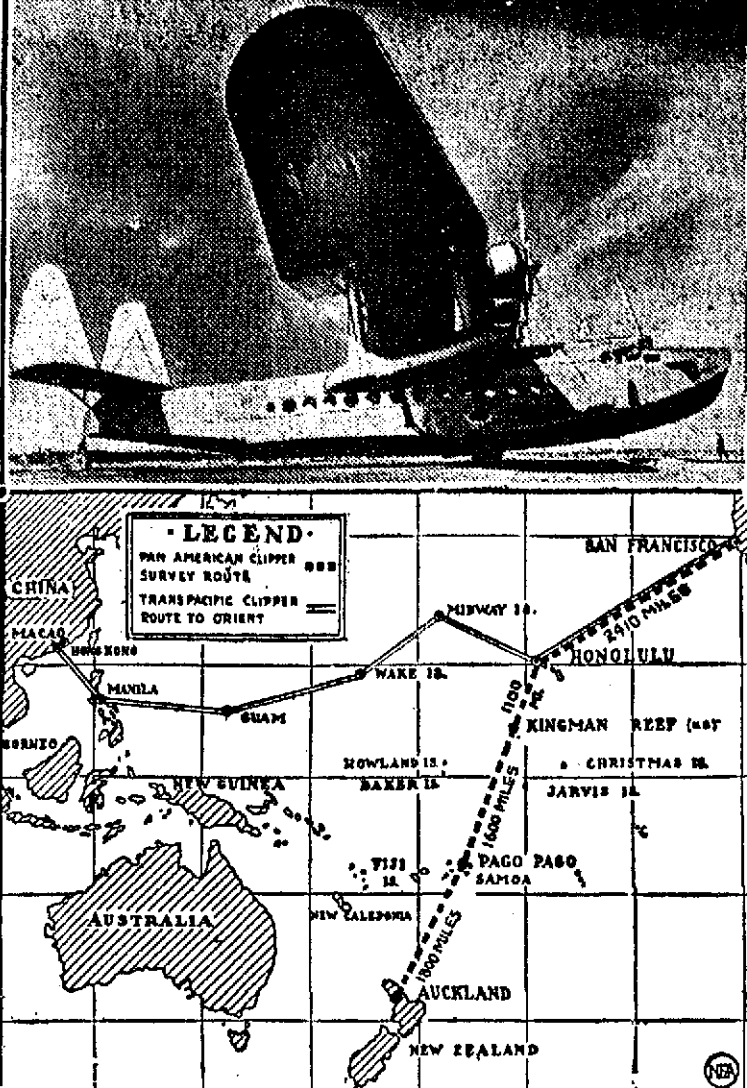

Representatives of the two powers discussed the possibility of using warships to halt troop transports en route to Spain, but postponed any decision pending the outcome of the international non-intervention committee's control plan.

At the afternoon session the Texarkana drill team assisted in the initiatory work when a class was initiated, and demonstrated the floor work.

The evening meeting at 7:30 will be open to the public. Mrs. Goldstick will be mistress of ceremonies, and Mayor Albert Graves will deliver the welcome address with response by Mrs. Duchene. B. B. Ragland, Little Rock, state manager of the Woodmen of the World, will give an address.

The Frances Barham dancing school pupils will be presented in fancy drills and dances. There will be musical selections by the Hope quartet and

Leviathan Trail Blazer's Route

On a giant, four-motored Sikorsky like that shown above, the interior of which is an intricate maze of modern navigating and flying apparatus, Pan-American Airways' officials based their hopes of blazing a mail, passenger and freight route to New Zealand and Australia. The plane's speed is 163 miles an hour, its cruising radius 3500 miles. It carries automatic pilots, three compasses, wing "air brakes," two radios. Two walls and roof of the engineer's station are studded with 81 gauges and controls. The 7000-mile ocean route is shown on the map below.

by Geraldine Whitten at the piano and Dorothy Nesbit on the violin. Mrs. W. O. Shipley will give a reading and Miss Harriet Story will sing. The Ridgill string band will also appear on the program, and the Texarkana drill team will present a fancy drill.

Methodist Choir

(Continued from page one)

World, (Staines)
Anthem, "Christ Is Risen" (Duncan)—The Choir.

Solo, "The Cross" (Ware)—William Dean.

"O friend of mine, we never choose the better part Until we set the cross up in our heart."

Hymn—The congregation.
Benediction and Choral Amen (Routon).

The personnel of the choir is:
Director and organist, Mrs. Ralph Routon;

Sopranos: Mesdames Tully Henry, Dale Wilson, Clyde Monts, Fred R. Harrison, and Glenn Williams; Misses Evelyn Murph, Harriet Story and Mary Louise Keith.

Altos: Mesdames John P. Cox, Sam Warrack, and Misses Joy O'Neal and Wanda Keith.

Tenors: Messrs Ernest O'Neal, Elmer Brown, Nolan Cargile and Johnson. Basses: Messrs William Dean, Cliff Franks and Franklin Horton.

Strikers Vacate

(Continued From Page One)

ing rights are settled.

Leave Chrysler Plants

LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Gov. Frank Murphy announced Wednesday night that John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, agreed to withdraw striking members of the United Automobile Workers of America from eight Chrysler Corporation plants at Detroit. The announcement followed an all-day meeting with Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the corporation's board, Lewis and other representatives of each side.

Governor Murphy said the labor leader agreed to have the strikers leave "probably before morning" and that instructions to that effect were being sent to union officials. The true provided that the conference in the governor's office would resume at 9 a. m. (CST) Thursday if the plants have been vacated by then.

The governor said collective bargaining will be the principal topic at the next meeting. It was the corporation's refusal to grant the U. A. W. A. sole bargaining rights that prompted the union to call the strike March 8. Since then 6,000 sit-downers have held the Detroit plants, leaving 60,000 Chrysler employees idle.

The governor said he had a promise that the company would make no effort to resume operations and would

University Dean Flays Court Plan

Columbia Professor Would Require Retirement at 70 or 75

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Dean Young B. Smith of Columbia University Law School asserted Thursday that the Roosevelt court bill would "threaten independence of the supreme court and might permanently impair confidence of the people in that court."

Smith was the first law school dean to appear before the senate judiciary committee in opposition to the measure. In his testimony, he conceded the court in recent years had "read into constitutional limitations upon powers of the government not required by its language."

The Columbia dean proposed as a substitute for the bill a constitutional amendment providing for compulsory retirement of judges at 70 or 75 years of age.

Ozan

The W. M. S. of the Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Barrow for their quarterly social meeting on Monday, March 22. Mrs. Wilbur Jones, Mrs. C. D. Ball, and Mrs. J. B. Robins as co-hostesses. The meeting was opened with song "Make Me a Channel of Blessing," followed with a prayer by Mrs. C. K. Osborn. The business meeting was omitted until next Monday. The devotionals was from the sixth chapter of St. John, by Mrs. Eugene Goodlett. An article "Courtesy" was read by Mrs. Chloa City. An article "Today," by Mrs. C. D. Ball was followed by a song "Somebody." Several interesting contests were enjoyed during the afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. K. Green, Mrs. Walter Baber, and Mrs. Eugene Goodlett. Visitors during the afternoon were Mrs. Chas. Locke, Mrs. Robert remove no dies or tools from the plants during the negotiations. Under the arrangement company officials and office employees will have free access to all Chrysler plants.

Lewis said representatives of his C. I. O. and of the affiliated U. A. W. would return at once to Detroit to urge the strikers to leave. He said he had no reason to believe they would refuse to comply.

Lewis and Chrysler will remain in Lansing to continue the negotiations.

Kidneys Must Flush Out Acids—Poisonous Waste

Kidney ailments won't wear away—and too dangerous to ignore—you've got to help these delicate organs function properly again. It's the same way with bladder trouble. Healthy Kidneys filter the acids and poisons and thru the bladder discharge them from the body. Backache—getting up nights—moist palms—scanty, high colored urine—rheumatic pains are some of the symptoms.

Ask your druggist for a 35 cent box of safe, gentle Ramon's, Brownie Pills for the Kidneys. Be sure you get Ramon's, the original and genuine.

FOR SALE

Good Building Lots in Any Part of Town Dirt Cheap.

A. C. Erwin

Cook, Mrs. J. K. Green and Mrs. Pearl Harris of Dallas, Texas. At the close refreshments were served.

The W. M. S. of the Ozan and St. Paul churches met on Tuesday, March 16, at the home of Mrs. Carrie Carrigan. Mrs. E. F. Goodlett opened the meeting by reading several scripture verses and leading in prayer. "Work For the Night Is Coming" was the opening song. After the business session Mrs. G. S. Smith presented an interesting program on "Prayer." The devotionals was given by Mrs. Carrie Carrigan. "Jesus' Example of Prayer" was read by Mrs. F. P. City, followed by a song "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

"God's Love in Jesus" was given by Mrs. Floyd Matthews. "Paul's Knowledge of Love" by Miss Cleo Harris. "Jesus Prayed Constantly" by Mrs. Autry Smead. "Widening of Horizons" by Mrs. W. B. Harris. The closing song "What a Friend" was followed by the W. M. S. benediction.

Dr. and Mrs. Ruel Robins and little sons, Ruel, Jr., and David visited Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Robins Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murphy of Nashville visited Mrs. Sallie E. Murphy Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Robins were visiting in Texarkana last Friday.

Mrs. Rush Jones and Mrs. Berrie Fletcher were Hope visitors Monday.

Miss Irma Robins of Texarkana was a week-end visitor of home folk.

Mrs. Pearl Harris of Dallas, Texas, is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. H. Robins.

Mrs. Robertson of Mineral Springs is visiting her son, H. P. Robertson and Mrs. Robertson.

Mrs. C. K. Osborn was a business visitor to Fulton last Tuesday.

ling in Texarkana last Friday.

Mrs. Rush Jones and Mrs. Berrie Fletcher were Hope visitors Monday.

Miss Irma Robins of Texarkana was a week-end visitor of home folk.

Mrs. Pearl Harris of Dallas, Texas, is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. H. Robins.

Mrs. Robertson of Mineral Springs is visiting her son, H. P. Robertson and Mrs. Robertson.

Mrs. C. K. Osborn was a business visitor to Fulton last Tuesday.

Serve 8-Cent Meals

TOKYO.—(AP)—Daily meals delivered at the home for more than 6,000 laborers and nursing mothers are supplied by a co-operative kitchen in Tokyo.

In the heart of the capital's dingiest slums this new cream-colored stucco building with an expansive glass front dietetically plans and serves three meals daily to each member for the equivalent of 8 cents.

DON'T GAMBLE With Cheap Motor Oil

USE... Williams Wanda Oils cannot be labeled. "No Better Oil Refined at Any Price." A 100% Pure Paraffin Mid-Continent Oil. Drive in today for a re-fill.

WILLIAMS OIL COMPANY

"The Station With the Windmill On Top"

AT THE TOP FOR Flavor.

YOU will never know how truly delicious a good beer can be until you have experienced the distinctive flavor—the smooth, mellow richness of Blatz Milwaukee beer—"the beer of the year".... Treat yourself to Blatz Old Heidelberg—or you may prefer the somewhat different flavor of Blatz Private Stock. Order Blatz Milwaukee beer from your dealer, by the bottle or by the case; or in the modern Cap-Sealed cans.

Distributed by FALSTAFF DISTRIBUTING CO.
Phone No. L.D. 25 101 Wood Texarkana, Ark.

Blatz

MILWAUKEE BEER

Copyright, 1937, Blatz Brewing Co.

THE BEER OF THE YEAR

COMMON COLDS

Relieve the distressing symptoms by applying Mentholum in nostrils and rubbing on chest.

MENTHOLATUM
Gives Comfortable Relief

FROM GIRL TO WOMAN

Mrs. Myrtle Donohue of 713 Kector Ave., Hope, Ark., said: "I was a very young girl when I first used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was recommended to use them after using two bottles of it I had a keen appetite, became stronger, wasn't nearly so nervous and was able to sleep better at night." Buy of your neighborhood druggist today.

New size, tabs. 50c., liquid $1.00 & $1.35

SPECIAL
5 Gallons Lube Oil
$1.50

Tol-E-Tex Oil Company

FOR SALE!

One x 5 inch and wider heart shakely cypress lumber suitable for outdoor buildings, barns, fences, etc. Prices attractive.

J. L. Williams & Sons
Day Phone—840

JETT WILLIAMS

is now buying government 12c loan cotton. See him before you sell.

A thrifty & moly move—cut out our Dry Cleaning to future perfection.

Hall Bros
CLEANERS & HATTERS

NOTICE

TO OWNERS OF GOVERNMENT 12c LOANS WE WANT TO BUY YOUR COTTON. SEE US BEFORE YOU SELL.

If you have lost your loan papers we will try to locate them for you.

E. C. BROWN & CO.

Fashion Tips for Easter!

The Wilson OBAN Seamless Collar

SHIRTS

Smooth seamless band—nothing to irritate the neck. Natural fold and natural roll front.

$1.50 and $1.95

PHOENIX NECKWEAR

Maybe not the largest, but certainly the smartest selection of ties in town. Hand made.... Resilient construction.

50c and $1.00

WILSON BUFFER HOSE

Stripes, plaids, and solid colors in grey, navy, black and beige. Guaranteed by Good Housekeeping.

3 Pairs $1.00 For

HANDKERCHIEF

Pure linen handkerchiefs in solid white and in white with hand drawn threads and appliqued designs. Hems hand rolled.

15c to 50c

Other Materials in high colors

25c

Your feet ARE OUT TO Cool

Our sandalized modes are daringly, comfortably "open".... miracles of summer breeziness.... so light you hardly know you have them on your feet.... yet so stylishly correct your summer costume is infinitely smarter for their selection. All sizes and widths.... see them.... revel in their coolness.

OTHER STYLES $1.98

FOR YOUR Easter

Easter always means sheerer stockings... smarter bags... newer gloves... and we have all of them now.

In addition to other smart accessories:

HOSIERY 79c to $1.00
BAGS $1.00 to $1.95
GLOVES $1.95 to $2.95
HANDKERCHIEFS 25c to 50c
HATS 59c to $2.48
FLOWERS 29c to 49c

$6.95

$7.95

Stunning new frocks that breathe the breath of spring. Silks in floral designs that are styled for the most sophisticated and leave an impression of lasting loveliness.

HAYNES BROS.

"There is no profitable substitute for quality"

Cows Ucowed--Lock Horns in Amazonian Battle

Today's Picture Story

It's a big day at Verbier in Val de Bagnes, Switzerland—the day of the cow fights that inaugurate the grazing season. Belling is fast and furious as owners draw lots for opponents of their animals.

The fight is on. Bellowing their rage, the big black cows rush into combat. The arena is no man-made stadium but a magnificent, mountain ringed meadow. All the spectators have ringside seats—but woe betide him who is unable to keep out of range of the stampeding duellists as the tide of battle shifts about the meadow.

The duellists "lock horns" in combat, forget they are the ladies of the barnyard. To and fro they wrestle about the meadow, in a struggle without quarter, bovine amazons battling to become queen of the herd. The gal with the strongest neck will win.

As soon as one of the combatants is downed, the fight is over. Likely you'd never guess that the dolorous cow with the broken horn won. Her conquered foe at left laments. She'll take a back seat through the grazing season—cowed by defeat, as it were.

With the Hempstead Home Agent

By MELVA BULLINGTON

Green Feed for Poultry

Green feed for the poultry flock will have a place in the planting operations on Hempstead county farms. The poultryman will be rewarded by increased egg production through the summer and winter, she points out.

Green feed improves the hatchability of eggs from breeding hens, and is essential in the production of vigorous, well developed pullets, according to S. A. Moore, extension poultryman, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. In addition to supplying minerals and vitamins, green feeds play an important part in stimulating the appetite, an important factor in growing chicks, says Mr. Moore. Poultry of all ages should be supplied with green feed of some kind. Green feed in almost any form is satisfactory for mature birds, but the growing pullets should be provided with range upon which green plants are growing.

Green feed should be grown near the brooder house so that it is available as soon as the chicks are old enough to turn out doors. If rain or cold weather makes it necessary to keep the chicks confined, succulent greens may be cut and fed in the house. Sufficient acreage should be planted to provide ample green feed for the pullets throughout the growing season.

Oats make ideal poultry pasture since they continue growth under heavy pasturage. Wheat or other small grains are also suitable. Alfalfa, lespedeza, or clover makes good poultry pasture and are also soil conserving, the poultryman points out.

If it is impossible to provide green pastures for poultry, Mr. Moore recommends other green crops such as turnips, cabbage, or kale, which may be cut and fed in the poultry house.

Rearranging Kitchen

Hundred of hours spent in the kitchen by Hempstead county homemakers could be spent with more profit and enjoyment if the kitchens were rearranged.

A survey of 700 farm homes in Arkansas showed that these women spent 25 hours each week in preparing and serving the meals, or about two times as many hours as were spent on any other house hold task, and twelve times as many as those spent in care and training of the children, according to Mrs. Ida A. Fenton, extension economist in home management, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

Furniture and equipment in the kitchen can be grouped according to the work to be done.

An important fatigue saving improvement is accomplished by raising working surfaces to the proper height so that the worker may stand erect and lay the palms of the hands flat upon the table top. The next step should be grouping close to the stove and workable the equipment which is used in preparing, cooking and serving the meal. The foods, too, should be stored as near this preparation center as possible.

The utensils used in clearing away and washing up should be grouped together, and here, too, may be stored the dishes.

Both of these centers should have ample daylight as well as artificial light.

Ventilation also is an important factor in reducing fatigue. Windows lowered a few inches from the top and across currents of air will insure a change of air.

A woodbox built into the wall with an opening inside and one on the outside enables the housewife to save both time and energy. Several housewives who have recently built such woodboxes are enthusiastic over the labor saved by such a box.

Meal preparation is a routine and the housewife who studies her routes of travel and rearranges her furniture and equipment to shorten her travel is bidding for a larger amount of satisfactory family life, Mrs. Fenton points out.

The Right Height

A 40 per cent saving in physical energy results when the working surfaces in the kitchen are adjusted to the proper heights. Aching backs and stooped shoulders generally mean that ironing boards, sinks, stoves, and tables are too low, she points out.

Mrs. Ida A. Fenton, extension economist, food preservation, gives the following rule to determine the proper height for table tops. Stand erect before the table and without stooping but keeping the arms straight place the palms of the hands flat upon the table top. It is the correct height if the posture is erect and arms unbent when the palms are flat on its surface. If the palms are several inches above the table top then it should be raised the several inches. This test is made to determine heights of a stove and table where forearm strength, such as is used in mixing, kneading, stirring, or washing dishes, is required.

All work which is usually classed as shoulder work, such as slicing and serving, may be done on a higher working surface. A cabinet may be adjusted to provide one height and the work table another, Mrs. Fenton suggests.

If dishes are washed in a sink, the bottom of the sink is the working surface.

Too low tables may be raised by attaching blocks of wood or ballbearing casters to the legs. One clever woman added a new top five inches above the old top and had a convenient storage space between them. A stove may be placed upon a platform or blocks of wood may be used under each leg. If the sink is a part of a built-in cabinet, then the sink will be too low if the cabinet top is correct height. In this case, one should always sit at work in front of the sink. To do this comfortably the average worker needs a stool nine inches lower than the sink. Heights may be lowered by sawing off legs and replacing the casters.

The height of the ironing board should be from one to two inches lower than a table height for forearm work. This allows for pressure when desired, and the height of the rim of washtubs should be about five inches higher than worktable for forearm strength, Mrs.

inlet, then the sink will be too low if the cabinet top is correct height. In this case, one should always sit at work in front of the sink. To do this comfortably the average worker needs a stool nine inches lower than the sink. Heights may be lowered by sawing off legs and replacing the casters.

The height of the ironing board should be from one to two inches lower than a table height for forearm work. This allows for pressure when desired, and the height of the rim of washtubs should be about five inches higher than worktable for forearm strength, Mrs.

The height of the ironing board should be from one to two inches lower than a table height for forearm work. This allows for pressure when desired, and the height of the rim of washtubs should be about five inches higher than worktable for forearm strength, Mrs.

The height of the ironing board should be from one to two inches lower than a table height for forearm work. This allows for pressure when desired, and the height of the rim of washtubs should be about five inches higher than worktable for forearm strength, Mrs.

Avery's Chapel

Mrs. Maude Cook of Osawatomie, Kan., are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Emma Allen of Nashville spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Culpepper.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley visited their daughter, Mrs. Willie Long of Friendship Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Watson of McCaskill spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cantrell of Belton visited Mr. and Mrs. Hamme

Cantrell Sunday

Faye Manning spent Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kidd.

Mrs. Emmet Sweet attended the funeral of Marvin Straw Monday at Murfreesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Shann and Mrs. Jess Dunaway of Nashville visited Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Culpepper last week.

Eli Kidd made a business trip to Blevins last week.

Bill York of Friendship visited Mr. and Mrs. Alice Gorham Monday.

Delice and Lorene Buckley of McCaskill spent the week end with Miss

Doris and Bee Shinner

Mrs. Roy Hawley and son visited Mr. Hawley's parents at Prescott last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambros Manning visited Joe Kidd Friday night.

Mrs. Howard Skinner and daughter have returned to their home at El Dorado.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sweet of McCaskill spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Sweet.

Girls' polo games are now played in California, the season culminating in a tournament at Pebble Beach.

Staterooms For Crew

HAMBURG —(AP)—An ocean liner passenger cruiser, with crew's quarters fitted up like staterooms, is to be launched here May 5.

A 25,000 tonner, it is the first vessel designed and built to order for the "Strength Through Joy" movement, which hitherto ran pleasure trips for workers on specially chartered vessels.

The crew of 400 will have the same comfort in quarters as the 1,460 tourists, in consonance with Nazi principles.

BY NARD JONES

©1937, NEA Service, Inc.

Trailer ADVENTURE

"You're certainly an opportunist if you think we're going to pop right out and get a job when we don't know a soul in San Diego," Betty said to Martha. "Besides, you'll catch cold lying on the floor."

(Continued from page one)

about it today. For the line did move on—and eventually Martha and Betty found themselves seated before a big mahogany desk. Arnold Sloss was fat and round and slightly red, but he owned a friendly smile.

"WELL," he began a little wearily, like a man who has gone over his story many times, "I'm interested financially in a company manufacturing the Airspeed Trailer. No doubt you girls are familiar with the popularity of the automobile trailer. We think we have the best trailer on the market and we want a couple of young girls to take one up the coast as an advertising stunt. It sounds easy, but it'll be real work for whoever gets the job. The pay is $35 a week and expenses for the car."

"That would be satisfactory," said Martha quickly. "And Miss Haynes and I would like the job. You see," she added, "we've known each other a long time and we know we can get along together."

Sloss nodded. "That's a good point, all right. I rather like the appearance of you two. There've been some lookers in here this morning that would attract attention for the trailer—but they've been kind of flashy." He gazed at Martha and Betty in turn. "Yes, sir, you two ought to sell trailers or I'm a Chinaman. One blond, the other brunette." Sloss reached for a small pad of paper. "I'm going to send you down to see Mr. Carrington. He's Airspeed's advertising manager, and he'll give you an advance of salary and expenses and an itinerary. And naturally there'll be a little driving test."

As he ushered Martha and Betty out the door he announced to the waiting line, "The position is taken. I'm sorry—and I thank you for coming."

Betty whispered to Martha, "Let's take the stairs. I don't feel like going down in the elevator with all those disappointed gals. And I wish you'd pinch me on the way down."

THEY went immediately to see Mr. Carrington, the advertising manager. Using the address which Sloss had given them, they found him in the back room of a small shed on the outskirts of the city, near Balboa Park. In the shed stood one of the Airspeed Trailers—a veritable land yacht. It had cushioned seats which made up into berths for sleeping. There was a cabinet which included a wash basin, and a shower compartment with a small water tank above. At the back end was a tiny stove and sink, with shelves for cooking utensils and dishes.

Carrington's first move was to invite Martha to take the driver's seat in his own car which he attached to the trailer.

Carrington then explained the trailer's features to them and gave them a package of printed folders. Oddly, he looked very much like Arnold Sloss. But he was extremely cordial, and seemed delighted at Sloss' selection. "You ought to start out tomorrow," he told them. "We want to be in plenty of time for the tourist season. I'll have a new light coupe here ready for you. And I suggest you get some touring outfits, if you haven't them already. You know, leather jackets and boots—maybe some shorts. Our idea is to make trailer traveling as smart as yachting—to sell the idea of buying and using a trailer."

In the street car on the way back to town Martha said, "I'm still suspicious. Where's the Airspeed factory? It seems to me that Sloss and Carrington are moving pretty fast."

Betty groaned. "When you die and go to heaven you'll pull Saint Peter's whiskers to see if they're false! They've probably made only one trailer, and won't make more until they get some orders. That Carrington talks a salesman's language—and all salesmen are a little crazy, but perfectly harmless and nice. You're seeing things in the dark. It looks like a swell job to me—and it looks like adventure ahead for little Martha and Betty."

"I'm game to go through with it," Martha replied. "But I'm wondering what kind of adventure it'll be."

BEGIN HERE TODAY
HAYNES, BRITAIN AND BETTY HAYNES overran on their California vacation trip and find themselves stranded in San Diego. They answer an ad of the Airspeed Trailer Company and obtain an assignment to travel up the west coast, demonstrating the new de luxe trailer. Their suspicions are aroused somewhat when ARNOLD SLOSS of the Airspeed company fails to ask for either bond or references.

Elated at the prospect of the trip and money, nevertheless, the two purchase travel outfits and return to their apartment to pack.

At their door they surprise a handsome young man trying to enter. Apologetically, he tells them he stepped off at the wrong floor and that his name is GERRY NEAL. At first alarmed, the girls soon incline to dismiss the incident. But Martha doesn't forget Neal.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

LATER that day Martha and Betty found themselves with plenty to do. Their first move was to write letters home, explaining that they were extending their trip to take in the whole length of the Pacific coast. After consultation they decided it would be best not to explain just how they were managing it.

"They'd only worry," Martha said. "And we can tell them all about it when we get back home. After it's over, they'll think it's all right."

"You don't know my aunt!" Betty laughed. "If she realized that we two girls were planning to gallivant up the coast with a car and a trailer, and shellaligag—that's what she'd call it—shellaligag around trailer camps in shorts she'd drive dad and mother insane. I'll never hear the last of it, even when it's over. So you can bet I'm not telling the folks now!" Betty chewed her pen, apparently in the throes of composition. But after a few moments she said, surprisingly and irreverently, "That Neal person was handsome, wasn't he?"

Martha looked at her. "Sorry we're moving out?"

"Well, he might have had the consideration to move in a week ago."

Their letters finished, they went out to mail them and to have a lunch at the corner drug store counter. "If we're going to buy some clothes we'd better cash the advance check that Carrington gave us," Betty said. "They probably know us here well enough to do it."

"Nothing doing, darling! I'm taking Mr. Carrington's check right to his own bank for cashing. If it's going to bounce I don't want to be on the receiving end."

Betty sighed. "Still suspicious, are you? Gosh, I hope when you get the money you'll change your tune."

And when they reached the bank and the teller cashed Carrington's check without a moment's hesitation, Martha did have to admit that she felt much better. "But let's don't crowd our luck," she cautioned. "When Betty clutched Martha's arm and whispered, "Look." A young man, carrying a suitcase, had approached, obviously intent on hooking a ride. Martha was about to slide behind the wheel and ignore him when she recognized him as Neal.

we've bought a few clothes and paid the landlady we want to save our salary. We don't know just how long it'll keep coming."

MARTHA wasn't a pessimist by nature, and her suspicion was refreshing to the girl who had known her since roller-skate days. Betty was vastly amused by Martha's distrust of their good fortune.

"I'm not going to let you be a killjoy, Mart. At least I'm going to have the fun of paying the rent. The landlady has been mighty watchful the last couple of days and I want to see her face when I hand her the money."

Martha laughed, and soon fell into Betty's spirit. Shopping for what Carrington had called a "tourist's outfit" was fun. "I wonder what he meant," Martha said. "When he mentioned tourist's clothes I thought of an old snapshot my father has, showing him and mother with their first automobile. They have on long linen dusters."

But they found what they wanted to supplement the clothes they had brought to California with them. Each bought a pair of smart whipcord trousers and light boots, with a contrasting leather jacket. And, remembering that they were going into the cooler climates of Oregon and Washington, they added two reversible topcoats.

"Now we're all set," Betty said as they emerged from the shop loaded down with packages. "How about treating ourselves to a taxi?"

"I want to make one more purchase," Martha told her.

"What's that?"

"A revolver." Betty gasped. "A—a what?"

"A revolver," repeated Martha. "But you can't carry a revolver without a police permit. I don't think you can even buy one without a permit."

"Then," said Martha, "we'll get the permits."

And they did, despite Betty's protestations at every step. Soon they had added to their purchases a small 32 caliber revolver and a box of shells. "You can't tell," Martha said. "It might come in handy to scare somebody with."

"It's already scared somebody," said Betty. "It scares me just to look at the darned thing—and I can't see what you want it for. We're not going to stop for any thumb jerkers, are we?"

"Not if we can help it. But we might have to change a tire on a lonely stretch of highway."

THEY were to find that on the coast highway between San Diego and Los Angeles there are few stretches of lonely pavement, and these are not long. By 10 o'clock they were breezing along in a new coupe, a modern Airspeed Trailer behind them, and enjoying every minute of it.

Carrington had been on hand to start them off; and, as he'd promised, had arranged everything. "The engine has been broken in," he told them. "So you don't have to baby it. But don't exceed the speed limit, and be sure to get non-resident driving permits in Oregon and Washington. I've got California licenses for both of you." And then, with a few parting instructions regarding the trailer, he had wished them good luck.

"What's the first stop?" Betty asked Martha when they were well on their way.

"The Golden State Auto Park in Long Beach is where we're supposed to spend the night."

"How about a week in Hollywood—say in Robert Taylor's back yard?" asked Betty facetiously.

On the outskirts of a delightful little town they rolled under the shade of a pepper tree to try their first lunch in a trailer. As Betty and Martha busied themselves with the tiny stove and portable table, many a car slowed down to admire the streamlines of the trailer. One family party stopped frankly, and were invited aboard to inspect it.

"I guess we're doing all right," Betty said, when the family had thanked them and gone on their way smiling. "This is going to be real fun. And you were throwing cold water!"

Lunch over, they put everything shipshape in the Airspeed's compartments, and started to climb back into the coupe. Just then Betty clutched Martha's arm and whispered, "Look . . ."

A young man, carrying a suitcase, was approaching, obviously intent on hooking a ride. Martha was about to slide behind the wheel and ignore him when she recognized him as Neal, the same man they had found attempting to enter their apartment the afternoon before! He had missed his morning shave, and he seemed a little the worse for tramping. But, unmistakably, he was Gerry Neal.

(To Be Continued)

Has Three Plays Running at Once

Maxwell Anderson Once More Is Mentioned for Pulitzer Prize

By GEORGE TUSKER
AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK—Looking more like a Berlin butcher than a playwright, Maxwell Anderson, portly six footer of the Palisades, has three dramas at once on Broadway. But some critics have been unkind enough to say he would have been wiser to write one really good play.

Nevertheless all three plays are making money.

The first to get produced was "The Winslow Boy," starring Katharine Cornell. Then came "High Tor," a family which has as its locale Anderson's own neighborhood in the Hudson Palisades not far from Manhattan. Its star is the youthful Burgess Meredith, enthusiastically hailed by some critics as "the Hamlet of 1936."

Finally came "The Great Jones Street," an interpretation of the Mayflower voyage which took place in 1881, not far from Vienna.

All of these plays are written in verse, as most of Anderson's later pieces have been.

Of all successful Broadway playwrights, he is by far the most reticent. He shuts up like a clam when one of his rare interviews is grudgingly given. When put to questions concerning himself, he fends interviewers off with "I don't know."

A Pennsylvanian by birth, he became a school teacher and eventually a reporter. Then he collaborated with Laurence Stallings on an earthy war drama, "What Price Glory?" which won both of them enough fame to satisfy a dozen playwrights. In all he and Stallings wrote three dramas.

A speedy worker, Anderson does all of his composing in longhand. He is a sure craftsman and seldom changes a word after it is written. He believes in verse as the ideal medium for the stage.

Preacher's Son

The Anderson manor near Haverstraw, N. Y., is augmented with a drab little hut in the forests nearby, and it is to this retreat that Maxwell escapes when too many guests clutter up the landscape. He prefers to work there, too.

Already a Pulitzer Prize winner, he is being touted as a possible repeater this year.

Before becoming rich on the profits from such successes as "Mary of Scotland," "Both Your Houses" and "Elizabeth the Queen," this chubby son of an Atlantic City clergyman studied at Stanford university and contributed pieces to west coast and New York newspapers.

Great Aches From Little Corns Grow

Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit Tiger pitcher, tenderly caresses his foot, populated with corns, after a workout at the Tiger training camp at Lakeland, Fla.

He is a courteous and tireless worker, once a play goes into production, he attends all rehearsals and obligingly rewrites episodes and scenes at the director's bidding.

Washington

Mrs. C. C. Stuart and Miss Kathryn Holt were Hope visitors Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Wimberly and daughter, Margaret, of Smackover were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Susie Barrow and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Delony and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Camp of Little Rock visited Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Delony Saturday.

Mrs. Maude Phelps and Miss Carrie Phelps of Little Rock were dinner guests at the Hotel Black Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Robins have returned home from a three weeks visit to Hot Springs where they took a course of baths.

Clifford Franks, Ray McDowell, Ralph Bailey and Powell Byers attended the races in Hot Springs Saturday.

Miss Joella Gold will return home from Arkansas College at Batesville Thursday to spend the spring holiday with her family.

Mrs. Susie Barrow will leave Thursday for New Orleans to attend the wedding of her daughter, Miss Floy Wimberly, to George Christie of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrson Frazier, Mrs. Clyde Kolb and daughters, Nita May and Juanel, all of Texarkana visited Miss Letha Frazier and other relatives Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. I. V. Parson of Fulton was the guests of Mrs. Sam Briant Tuesday.

Mrs. Lorene Durham and children of Fort Worth and Milton Simmons of San Antonio are here attending the bedside of their father and brother, A. F. Simmons, who is ill at Julia Chester hospital in Hope.

Rolin and J. F. Scoggins of Texarkana were the week-end guests of their sister, Mrs. J. M. May.

Miss Hazel Nickels of New Hope spent several days last week with Mrs. W. E. Hulsey.

Mrs. Ella Gold and Mrs. Jane Hulsey were visitors to Hope Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Card and daughter of Hope were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Card Sunday.

Miss Lucille Hulsey spent Saturday in Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stuart visited relatives in Columbus Sunday.

Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Mrs. R. A. Anderson, Miss Essie Trimble and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Etter and little daughter, Sarah June attended the annual Garden Pilgrimage at Natchez, Miss., Saturday. They joined Mrs. C. N. Trimble, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Trimble and David Trimble of El Dorado and Mrs. J. W. Butler of Batesville Friday in El Dorado and continued on to the J. D. Trimble farm at Winnsboro, La., where they were guests for the night of C. N. Trimble, J. W. Butler and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Haynes, all formerly of Washington. The party drove to Natchez for the day Saturday, back to El Dorado Sunday and the local members of the party returned home Monday.

Mrs. Luther Smith and Miss Mary Catts were shopping in Hope Saturday. The friends of A. F. Simmons are glad to know that he is improving from a serious illness.

Bub Stewart was a business visitor to Nashville Monday.

T. P. Parsons made a business trip to Hope Tuesday.

Mrs. C. M. Williams left Tuesday for Snyder to spend several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Q. T. Cone.

Home Demonstration Club Met Friday

The Home Demonstration club met Friday March 19th, at the home of Mrs. Paul Diney with six members and one visitor present. Miss Polly Rouse, assistant home demonstration agent gave the demonstration on quick bread.

The meeting was opened by singing the songs, "The Old Oaken Bucket," and "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Repeating a Scripture was followed by prayer by the president. During the business meeting Mrs. Lee Holt and Mrs. Paul Diney were appointed as Better Home Committee to work with the town officials and others who are interested in a clean up campaign. Each citizen is urged to clean away all trash and rubbish from their own premises and in doing so it will help to make the clean-up campaign a success.

The placing of several trash cans in convenient places in the business section of town was discussed and the committee was authorized to investigate placing of same.

A paper on The Duties of County Officers was read and a round table discussion followed. Two or three interesting games were conducted by the recreational leader and the meeting was concluded.

The next meeting of the Home Demonstration club will be at the Baptist church on the second Friday in April.

club notes

Rocky Mount

The Thimble club of Rocky Mount met at Mrs. Florence Fincher's Wednesday afternoon, March 24. Two quilts were quilted. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Humphrey's Wednesday afternoon March 31. The prize was won by Mrs. J. W. Hirston.

Those present were: Mrs. Leonard Higginson, Mrs. R. J. Pearce, Mrs. William Fincher, Miss Faye Pickard, Mrs. W. L. Fairchild, Mrs. J. H. Pickard, Mrs. Nora Arnett, Mrs. D. O. Silvey, Mrs. J. W. Hirston, Miss Helen Fincher, Miss Porelee Boswell, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. E. G. Wright, Mrs. Fletcher Eastering, Mrs. Anna Maye.

Glasses Survive

IONIA, Mich.—(P)—Forest Kuntz took a flight in an open cockpit plane to snap aerial photographs.

As he learned over to click the shutter his spectacles fell off. The plane was flying at an altitude of 4,000 feet and Kuntz despaired of ever seeing the glasses again.

A few days later a neighbor found the glasses intact on the farm of Kuntz's father near the Ionia county airport.

Man-Sized Job

The new Viceroy is Victor Hope, eighth Earl of Hopetown and second Marquess of Linlithgow, only 49 years old, a Conservative with a splendid record of public service already behind him.

His father, the first marquess, was named in 1900 to help launch, as governor-general, the Australian commonwealth.

The Viceroyalty of India has always been a tough task. And the present five-year term promises to be the toughest since the great mutiny of 1857. But so far as tradition, training and past record can qualify one for an exacting task, Lord Linlithgow would appear to qualify.

He is tall, broad-shouldered, good-looking. A born aristocrat, he is democratic in manner, with friends in all classes, creeds and colors. And he knows India as few of her viceroys have known it before their entry into office. He served four years in the British army during the World war, and produced results in agricultural reform and other fields. As chairman

New English Crisis in Turbulent India

World Policy at Stake as Powerful Leader Assists Gandhi

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

During the last week of March and the first weeks of April, events vital to India's 350,000,000 people to other parts of the British empire, and indirectly to all the world, are taking place in India.

The fate of Britain's attempt to grant partial self-government to India and thus ally a rising tide of discontent with British rule, is being decided.

The crisis resulted from the strange elections held—elections resembling a continental pageant, with charging elephants, hunger strikes, riots, murders, and candidates "stumped" by plane, elephant, camel, motorboat and bull cart.

Of India's swarming population, 33,000,000 voters were electing representatives in provincial legislatures. Great masses of those entitled to vote being illiterate, colorful instead of names represented the choice in many districts. All India boiled with excitement for weeks.

Gandhi Party Wins

The Indian Congress party won a clear majority of 6 to 11 provinces, and won in three other provinces more seats than any other party.

This is the party of Gandhi, active leader, since the Mahatma's virtual retirement, by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.

It is the party which demands complete independence for India. Between Gandhi and Nehru, there are wide differences, but on independence all factions of the Congress party are agreed.

The April crisis swung on this question will the Congress party candidates who were elected actually take their seats and take part in the "new government"?

If they do, they will be given force to the Government of India Act of 1935, which created a new setup, which the Congress has already repudiated.

If they refuse to take their seats, thus stalling a sort of "sitdown strike" against the new plan, the act provides that, first the provincial governors and in the last resort the Viceroy, shall govern.

This decision will be made while the new Viceroy, sent out from England to launch the new "Federation of all India," is taking office early in April.

His Taxi Dancers

SHANGHAI, China.—(P)—Taxi dancers, orchestra members and actresses will be subject to China's new income tax law which assesses incomes starting at U. S. $10 a month. Authorities have notified all owners of cabarets, dance halls and amusement centers that the tax must be deducted from the salaries paid.

Piney Grove

Miss Daisy Eubanks is recovering after a case of pneumonia.

Miss Jannie Eubanks has returned to Mississippi to take up her job in a government hospital after nursing her sister for a week.

Miss Virginia Bush from New Hope, Alabama, has visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Miller over two friends.

Jessie Langston visited his aunt Mrs. Mattie Crider Wednesday.

John Milliner made a business trip to Prescott Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Delton Grimsley and little son, James made a trip last Sunday to see Mrs. Chambers.

Little J. C. Grimsley is visiting his grandmother Mrs. Alice Grimsley.

Mrs. Walker and her family from

New Hope, Alabama, visited her brother John L. Milliner last week. Cecil Richard is home from Louisville.

"Gravy"

"The teacher of a Sunday school class explained the story of Elijah and the prophets of Baal—how Elijah built the altar, put wood upon it, and eat the bullock in pees and laid them on the altar."

"And then," she said, "he commanded the people to fill four barrels with water and pour it over the altar, and they did this four times. Now, can anyone tell why this water was poured over the bullock on the altar?"

"To make the gravy!" came a prompt reply.

STYLISH STEPPERS for Easter

SHOES

Select your shoes for the increased smartness they give to your Easter suit and you'll select Updowns here. They're a step ahead of the parade in everything—style—performance—comfort. From your first to final step you'll feel and be better dressed.

$5.00 Black or White

Other Styles—Brown—Black and White—Black and White—All White.

ALL SIZES A to D Widths $2.95 and $3.95

111 West Second duggar's Expert Shoe Fitters

FOURTEEN DAYS TO ASSESS

You have until April 10 to assess. After that date the assessor's force must place an ARBITRARY value on your personal property, and charge you a PENALTY of 10 per cent with a minimum charge of $1.00.

Those who assess this year will elect a United States Senator, a Representative in Congress, and all State, County and District officials next year.

To assess for someone else you should bring a written order to the assessor, authorizing you to do so. Any legible letter signed by the person to be assessed will be ample.

We will be ready for applications for Homestead Exemptions about June 15. Exemptions will not apply on taxes to be paid this year. To be eligible for this relief one must OWN THE PROPERTY AND LIVE ON IT. The most anyone can save is $8.70 each year.

ISABELLE ONSTEAD
ASSESSOR, Hempstead County.

USE OUR EASY PAY BUDGET PLAN FOR YOUR CAR NEEDS

GOOD YEAR TIRES On Easy Terms

TIRE PATCH KITS Large Size 19c

TIRE PUMP 39c

RADIOS $20.00 and up

AUTOMOTIVE SUPPLY CO.
112 Main Street Hope, Ark.

"It's pretty hard to beat NATURE"

Mighty Mules Hitched to a dynamometer (a strength testing machine) these powerful mules record their strength for the photographer.

HERE is a famous pair of mules—mighty creatures with the pulling strength of a pair of four-legged giants. At a recent university test, they threatened the world's pulling record.

What makes these mules unusual? Mother Nature gave them something—her own natural balance of many elements; strength, staying power, the willingness to work. So in actual value, these sturdy mules stand out from ordinary mules—there's just no comparison.

And Nature gave a natural balance to Natural Chilean Nitrate, too—a natural balance of many elements that combine to make this nitrogen fertilizer a reliable food for your crops.

Natural Chilean is known for its quick-acting nitrogen, of course. But nitrogen is only one of its vital elements. Because of its natural origin, Chilean Soda also contains, as impurities, such elements as iodine, boron, magnesium, calcium and some 28 others. And always remember that these vital elements are present in Chilean Soda in Mother Nature's own wise balance and blend.

For better crops... Natural Chilean Nitrate.

Natural Chilean NITRATE of SODA NATURAL AS THE GROUND IT COMES FROM

With Vital Elements in Nature's Balance and Blend

RADIO—"UNCLE NATCHEL & SONNY" FAMOUS CHILEAN CALENDAR CHARACTERS
See announcements of leading Southern Stations

PHONE 266 WE DELIVER

Delicious APPLES, Doz. 25c	RADISHES 3 Bunches 5c
CARROT$, Bch. 5c	BANANAS, lb. 5c
LETTUCE, Head 8c	Turnip Greens, lb. 7 1/2 c
CABBAGE—2 lb. 5c	Russet Potatoes, lb 7 1/2 c
CUP & SAUCER or PLATE OATS—Package 28c
Aunt Jemia 10 lb Bag 43c	5 lb Pkg. 23c
VANILLA WAFERS Pound 15c
CORN No. 2 Can 9c
Monarch 1/2 lb. Package 39c	Small Pkg. 9c
TEA 1/4 lb. Package 21c
STEW MEAT 2 Pounds 25c	BOLOGNA Pound 15c
HOG BRAINS SET 10c
COOP FED HENS DRESSED or ON FOOT
OLEO 22c	BACON 28c
GOOD LUCK Pound	TALL KORN Pound
SAUSAGE 2 Lbs. 25c

Home Owned HOBBS Gro. & Market Operated

EXTRA VALUES ON ANN PAGE MERCHANDISE

A&P ESTABLISHED 1859 FOOD STORES	Sparkle GELATIN 3 Pkgs. 13c Chocolate PUDDING 3 For 13c	ANN PAGE Preserves Assorted Flavors 16 oz. JAR 17c	Sandwich SPREAD 8 oz. JAR 12c PINT JAR 19c
PRODUCE SPECIALS	A&P QUALITY MEATS
Fancy Stringless BEANS 2 Lbs. 25c Texas Seedless GRAPEFRUIT 80 Size 3 For 10c Golden Yellow BANANAS Pound 5c Nice Texas CARROTS 2 Bunches 7c Red Triumph POTATOES 10 Lbs. No. 1 39c For	Wisconsin CHEESE Lb. 23c NIPPY AGED Lb. 29c ARMOUR'S STAR PICNIC HAMS Sankless 4 to 6 lb. ave. Lb. 21c Mixed Sausage or Hamburger 2 Lbs. 25c For	Branded BEEF SEVEN ROAST Lb. 17c Chuck STEAK Lb. 17c 3rsket ROAST Lb. 13c CHOICE HENS Fully Dressed Lb. 24c SWIFT'S BOLOGNA Sliced Lb. 15c	Sliced Bacon SUNNYFIELD Lb. 35c TALL KORN Lb. 28c CERRO Lb. 25c BACON SQUARES Lb. 24c DRY SALT JOWLS Lb. 13c Channel CATFISH Red Silver SALMON OYSTERS
STOCK YOUR PANTRY WITH THESE VALUES
MRS. TUCKER SHORTENING 8 Pound Carton $1.09 RAJAH BLACK PEPPER 2 oz. Can 5c EASTER EGG DYES 2 Packages For 15c PEERLESS FLOUR 48 Pound Sack $1.49	IONA PEACHES 2 No. 2 1/2 Cans Sliced or Halves 29c IONA GREEN BEANS 3 No. 2 Cans For 25c CAMAY TOILET SOAP Bar 5c Ask Manager About Trailer Contest	CLAPPS BABY FOOD 3 Cans For 25c BOKAR COFFEE 2 Pounds For 45c POPEYE SPINACH 2 No. 2 Cans For 23c

Fraternity Issue Is Raised in L. R.

Observance of Non-Membership Pledges Not Enforced, Charged

LITTLE ROCK—The troublesome fraternity question apparently has been taken up again to plague the Little Rock School Board.

It was reported Wednesday that the board, at its meeting Saturday night, took cognizance of an editorial published in the L.R.H.S. Tiger, questioning the board's action in attempting to squelch fraternities and sororities.

The board adopted last year a resolution requiring all high school students to sign a pledge that they would not join fraternities or participate in their activities. If the signer already was a member of such an organization he or she was asked to promise that he would not take part in society meetings or initiations.

The Tiger editorial says that these pledges which are "constantly being violated" because students have failed to take them seriously, are doing more harm than good in developing good citizenship and suggests that school authorities should enforce the regulations or admit their failure and let the organization exist openly.

One-half of Mexico's 15,000,000 population is pure Indian.

GOOD GARDENING

Pruning Aids Growth of Shrubs

By DONALD GRAY
NEA Gardening Consultant

Shrubs will live forever if the old wood is removed and new growth allowed to take its place, but this need not be a yearly operation. It depends on the individual plant as to when and how much of its wood should be cut off.

Here are some general rules about pruning:

1. Have a reason for making every cut.
2. Make each cut just above a bud.
3. Make the cut on the diagonal.
4. Do not leave a stump of a limb. Take it off close to the trunk.
5. If the stub of the cut-off limb is one inch or more in diameter, cover the mound with paint not containing turpentine.
6. Use pruning shears all season. Cut off seed pods as soon as the flower falls. Cut out branches of shrubs and trees that are rubbing or growing out of bounds, and keep plants within their areas without making them look "balled," or unnatural.
7. Time to trim is after the plant has bloomed.

Shrub properly pruned

When a tree or shrub is received from the nursery, cut off all broken roots no matter what amount has to be sacrificed. A bruised root will introduce disease. Take off one third of last year's top growth. Some trees can have the ends of the branches cut back, others should not have the leader limb cut. Quick growing trees may have all tops cut back.

Right way (left) and wrong way to cut off limb.

Shrubs should have thin branches cut out to the base. A third of all tops may be cut out, but thinning out is better than cutting back ends. Try to equalize the amount of top with the amount of roots.

Evergreens need not be trimmed at time of transplanting, because they are transplanted with all their roots intact in a ball of earth.

It is essential to direct the growth of shade trees. If the tree begins to grow lopsided, cut back some of the limbs. If the branches are too low to the ground, cut them off. Do it any time of the year with most trees. Some varieties are likely to "bleed" in the early spring, so wait until July.

Right way (extreme left) and three wrong ways to cut branch of shrub or tree.

Wherever one limb grows over another, so as to rub against it or throw out the symmetry of the tree, cut out the limb. Cut off all suckers at the base or along the trunk.

Unless some varieties of evergreens are pruned, they will become thin and "leggy." Their new growth will always be at the ends of the branches and the leaves will die close to the trunk.

Take off one-third of the present year's growth to keep the plant full of leaves. Evergreens grown as hedges may be cut just before new growth starts, either early in the spring or early in the fall.

Evergreens, such as pines and spruce, may be kept within bounds and bushy by pinching off the new leaders in May and in September.

Low growing evergreens, such as yew and boxwood, may be clipped any time during the year. It is better to do it early in the season before growth begins, to force the new growth from the center of the plant rather than from the ends of the limbs.

NEXT: Keeping the plants healthy.

A Book a Day

Here's Book to Help Parents Keep the Little Folks Busy.

Periodically, Bruce Catton's Book-a-Day column is turned over to Olive Roberts Barton, famed child training expert, for a review of the latest and best books for children. Here is another of her authoritative articles.

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A helpful book has been written which mothers, taxed for party and rainy-day ideas, may well greet with pleasure. The work, "101 Things for Little Folks to Do," by Lillie B. and Arthur C. North (Lippincott), $2, is replete with illustrations and easy instructions.

Everything appears to be included, from the drawing of faces and circular cuts, to weaving baskets; children are told how to make pottery, things out of paper and cork and, finally, a bathtub-size speedboat that will run! The book is designed for juveniles to figure out for themselves, but, if they are under reading age, it will be a grand guide for their parents.

"Necromancy and Petunia" (Dutton, $1), is the latest hand-size book in the long-popular Inez Hogan series for the very young. In it, the little colored boy finds a lively new playmate in Petunia, who gets into trouble when she tries to fly.

A slim, beautiful book for children a little older is "Princess Elizabeth and Her Dogs," by Michael Chance (Dutton, $1), containing 25 informal photographs of the new royal family at home. They have eight dogs: Princess Elizabeth's own small thatched-roofed house, given her by the people of Wales on her sixth birthday, provides the setting. The volume is as charming as these very natural little girls themselves.

There is infallible reader-interest for the 9-to-12-year-old, in the story of the child in a circus. All the excitement of the Big Top has been put into "Circus Ring" (Putnam, $2), by Mary Grant Bruce, an author who knows her subject.

The story of the disappointments and perseverance of young Hugh Russell in realizing his dream of becoming a performing rider, wisely shows a circus career not as glittering enchantment, but as an exacting life requiring high moral courage and solid common sense. Hugh's friends—Jeff, the cowboy who trains him; Mickey and Joey, the clowns; Nita, his small partner on the pony turn, and Mrs. Dan, who mothers him—are sterling characters who strengthen the sharp reality of the story.

A juvenile "Book of the Month" for older boys and girls, if there were such a thing, might well be "Spanish

Fear Italy Will Openly Aid Spain

France Claims Proof That Italy Landed New Forces There

Diplomatic authorities disclosed a French claim to "absolute proof" that Italian volunteers had landed in Spain since the European ban on foreign volunteers in the Spanish civil war became effective February 20.

Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos, in a series of meetings with foreign diplomats, took the following actions:

1. He told the British and German ambassadors that France will seek Britain's aid in blocking the Spanish coast unless Premier Benito Mussolini observes the non-intervention accord.
2. He asked the German ambassador, Count Johannes von Welzbeck, to urge the German government to intercede in Rome to forestall any Italian junk-trucks to California, by T. De La Rhu (Canton, $2.50), although it also is adult reading. The pattern of the book fans out at either end, centering on the expedition of Don Ramon Davidas, who takes his family, retainers, herds, and possessions on a great trek from the Spain of the Inquisition to the New World.

The first half of the book takes up the individual stories of various hunted men whose destinies finally set them aboard Don Ramon's ships. The remainder describes the journey of this vast company over sea and desert to a triumphant settling of California. Based on legend and written with finish.

PARIS, France—(AP)—France, fired by fears that Italy shortly may throw over the international "hands-off Spain" agreement, Wednesday viewed the situation with "gravity."

3. He began a poll of France's allies. Delbos' conferences with the British and German ambassadors were outlined authoritatively as follows: The foreign minister suggested that Great Britain and France adopt a common stand toward the Italian refusal to withdraw Italians fighting in Spain and toward the possibility that reinforcements might be landed to ensure a victory for the insurgent leader, Gen. Francisco Franco. He suggested that, "if possible," the collaboration of other nations represented on the Non-Intervention Committee be sought.

Declarations in the Italian press that Italy will not remove a single soldier from Spain until the civil war is over, coupled with Tuesday's assertion in London by Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador there, that Italy refused to take part in any discussion requiring withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain, were mentioned by Delbos. He cited these points as signs that Mussolini shortly may throw over the nonintervention agreement and pour troops into General Franco's ranks.

Organize Singing Class

Citizens of Providence community will meet Sunday night to organize a singing class. New books have been purchased.

Seventy thousand acres of California orange groves require "smudging" or heating to prevent frost.

Laundries-Guard PUBLIC HEALTH

BLANKETS LAUNDERED—NO SHRINKAGE 50c

NELSON-HUCKINS

Seven giant orange trees that bear heavily through more than a century old stand on the Laguna Seca Ranch near Edinburg, Texas.

Several American universities now give four-year courses to train young men in the technical and legal phases of police work.

"TODAY OUR HEALTHY DIONNE QUINS HAD QUAKER OATS"

Dr. Allan Roy Dwyer

Rich in Natural Vitamin B to BRACE-UP NERVES, DIGESTION, APPETITE

Dionnes Round Out 3 Shining Years on Quaker Oats!

Listen to Kaitanmeyer's Kindergarten Every Saturday, 4:30 P. M. (C. S. T.) N. B. C. Red Network

QUAKER OATS

PIGGLY WIGGLY

FRESH PRODUCE DAILY

BANANAS Kroger Quality	Dozen	15c
LEMONS California Sunkist	Dozen	19c
CAULIFLOWER Sno-White	Head	19c
POTATOES No. 1 Red McClure	10 Lbs	35c
CRISP CELERY—Stalk	10c
FRESH TOMATOES, Lb.	15c
Rutabaga 4 lbs.	10c
TURNIPS lbs.	10c
YELLOW SQUASH, Lb.	15c
Porta Rican YAMS—4 Lbs.	19c
TENDER SPINACH, Lb.	5c
Large Fla. Oranges, 3 for 10c	39c
Extra Large Grapefruit 6 for	23c

GROCERY DEPARTMENT

SUGAR Pure Cane 10 Pound Limit	48c
RITZ N. B. C.—Large Box	Pound 21c
SHORTENING "Humko" 8 Lb. 100% Veg.	$1.09
FLOUR AVONDALE 48 Lb. Guaranteed	$1.49
Cello-Pak Marshmallows, lb	15c
Salad Dressing Embassy, Qt.	25c
Chum SALMON 10c Pound Can
WE WILL BE GLAD TO BUY YOUR EGGS
"Clock" BREAD 24 oz. Loaf	10c
LIGHT ROLLS, Doz.	5c
Brighton Vanilla WAFERS, lb.	15c
FRESH FIG BARS, lb.	10c

VISIT OUR 10c Island

IN OUR MARKET**

Country Club, Armour's Star, Swift's Premium

HAM SKINNED 10 to 12 Lb. Ave. Half or Whole Pound 24½c

PICNICS Shankless 1 to 10 lb. ave. Cellophane Wrapped Pound 15c

SLICED HAM Center Cut Slices 10c ea.

DECKER'S SLICED BACON Lb 25c FRESH DRESSED FRYERS Ea. 39c

BUFFALO FRESH RIVER Whole Pound 7½c

For the Big Annual

EASTER

Parade

DOWN THE AVENUE

Easter is dress up time for the men as well as for the women. Robison's presents the newest spring suits by nationally famous garment manufacturers, shirts by Shirtsraft, hosiery by Phoenix, hats by Swann and Rothschild, and accessories by Hickok . . . all going to make a complete Easter outfit. Robison's invites all men to visit their ready-to-wear department.

SUITS by CURLEE

Naturally every man wants to appear well dressed in comparison with other men—and it's a cinch that they'll be wearing a Curlee Suit. Curlee offers gabardines in greys, greens, browns—spring worsteds in solids, greys, blues, browns, stripes plaids, tweeds. Sport and plain back models. Choice of single or double breasted styles. Slims, stouts, shorts and mediums.

$25.85

Men's Newest Spring Suits

This group of men's suits includes the ever popular gabardines in tans, blues, greens, in an assortment of shades. Choice of tweeds, plaids, tropical twists, and worsteds in a variety of patterns. Sport backs, plain backs, belted backs.

$19.50

Checks, plaids and stripes with solids, greys, tans and blues. Made of the finest tweeds and tweed woolens on the market. No need to worry about getting a perfect fit—come on down and let our expert clerks measure you.

$16.75

This group of men's suits includes—checks, plaids, stripes, solids in blues, browns and greys. Sports and plain back models. Made of medium weight woolens and tropical worsteds.

$14.75

Ties

By Phoenix

Gay patterns—new foulards—new stripes. All the newest shades and colors. Complete your Easter costume with a new tie and while you're at it—buy several for spring wear.

49c and 98c

Socks

By Phoenix

Made of sheer silks. Clocks, solids, checks and fancies. Re-enforced heel and toe. No outfit is complete without socks to match.

35c and 49c

Underwear

Cooper's shirts and shorts in plain white broadcloth and fancy patterns. Choice of ribbed or rayon shirts.

49c

This selection of men's shirts and shorts are made of fast color broadcloth with full cut styles in the shorts and shirts of ribbed cotton.

25c

Fade-Proof Shirts

At this price every man can afford to stock up this Easter. Shirts in all the gay patterns of spring. Whites and solids. With tribuzen collar. All sizes.

98c

Hats by SWANN

Although we have dozens of styles in our hat selection, space won't permit showing all of them. The hat shown is one of our most popular sellers. So, now that you're ready for your new spring hat be sure to see all of the styles. By Swann.

$3.98

Hats by Rothschild

We've just gotten in a big selection of Men's Rothschild hats in all the newest styles and shapes. All the latest spring shades are represented.

$2.98

Belts by Hickok

Men's genuine cowhide belts with plated buckle. Choice of either slide or hook buckle.

$1.98

Suspenders by Hickok

Featuring the popular two-way stretch suspenders. Will not tangle or snarl. Popular patterns.

98c

Toiletries

Razor blades, 50 blades, double edge.

39c
Lifebuoy Soap
2 for 15c
Listerine, 14 oz. size
69c
Colgate Shaving Cream, 1 lb. size
25c
Hair Tonic, large size
39c

THE LEADING DEPARTMENT STORE

WE GIVE EAGLE STAMPS

ROBISON'S

HOPE

PRESCOTT

NASHVILLE